International Bar Association

The Global Voice of the Legal Profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organization of international legal practitioners, bar associations and law societies. The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of 35,000 individual lawyers and more than 197 bar associations and law societies spanning all continents. It has considerable expertise in providing assistance to the global legal community.

Grouped into two divisions – the Legal Practice Division and the Public and Professional Interest Division – the IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information. Through the various committees of the divisions, the IBA enables an interchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of business law around the globe. Additionally, the IBA's high-quality publications and world-class conferences provide unrivalled professional development and network-building opportunities for international legal practitioners and professional associates.

The IBA's Bar Issues Commission provides an invaluable forum for IBA member organisations to discuss all matters relating to law at an international level.

The IBA's Human Rights Institute (IBAHRI) works across the Association, to promote, protect and enforce human rights under a just rule of law, and to preserve the independence of the judiciary and the legal profession worldwide.

Other institutions established by the IBA include the Southern Africa Litigation Centre and the International Legal Assistance Consortium.

Employment and Industrial Relations Law Committee

The aims of the committee are to develop and exchange knowledge of employment and industrial relations law and practice. Members support each other through the provision of innovative ideas and practical assistance on day-to-day issues. In addition, through its journal and through presentations, the committee ensures the dissemination of up-to-date law and practice in this highly important business area.

International Bar Association Global Employment Institute

The International Bar Association Global Employment Institute (IBA GEI) was formed in early 2010 for the purpose of developing for multinationals and worldwide institutions a global and strategic approach to the main legal issues in the human resources and human capital fields.

Drawing on the resources and expertise of the IBA membership, the IBA GEI will provide a unique contribution in the field of employment, discrimination and immigration law, on a diverse range of global issues, to private and public organizations throughout the world. This is designed to enhance the management, performance and productivity of these organizations and help achieve best practice in their human capital and management functions from a strategic perspective.

The IBA GEI will become the leading voice and authority on global HR issues by virtue of having a number of the world's leading labour and employment practitioners in its ranks, and the support and resource of the world's largest association of international lawyers.

About the International Labour and Employment Compliance Handbook

From 1976 through 1988, the International Bar Association and Kluwer Law International published the groundbreaking International Handbook on Contracts of Employment. This Handbook provided one of the first global overviews of the law of the employment relationship.

Since publishing the first edition, globalization of business has created an increased demand for knowledge of labor and employment laws throughout the world. Therefore, along with Kluwer, we decided to publish an updated Handbook which we have titled the International Labour and Employment Compliance Handbook.

This new Handbook is intended to be a practical guide by providing a general overview of key labor and employment issues in multiple jurisdictions. Each chapter is written so that it is easy to understand by lawyers and non-lawyers alike. Each country author has also followed a standard outline to assist readers in analysing employment issues in each country.

For the first edition of this new Handbook, we have included nineteen (19) different countries. In future editions, we will add new countries.

This Handbook would not have been possible without the help and assistance of many people. Most importantly, the individual country authors are all distinguished legal practitioners who spent considerable time drafting and revising their chapters to meet difficult deadlines. We thank each of them. Our friends at Kluwer, especially Ewa Szkatula, have done a wonderful job in keeping the editors and the authors on schedule. We are also indebted to Ginny Faber who has helped edit each chapter. Finally, we want to also express our gratitude to Elisabet Calzada and Sandra Peris of Cuatrecasas, Gonçalves Pereira, and Meagan C. LeGear and Rhonda Jones of Baker & McKenzie LLP in Chicago for their valuable assistance in the coordination and organization of each of the chapters. Our warmest thanks to each of them.

ABOUT THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR AND EMPLOYMENT COMPLIANCE HANDBOOK

We hope this Handbook will be a helpful and useful resource. We look forward to input and suggestions for future editions of the Handbook.

AUTHOR

Pascale Lagesse

Pascale Lagesse is a Partner at Bredin Prat specializing in all aspects of employment law, including national, international and multi-jurisdictional issues.

She has extensive experience with complex reorganizations and international restructuring operations, including advising companies on how to plan for and carry out reductions in force and how to best manage the employment issues that arise in connection with mergers and acquisitions, such as works council information/consultation requirements, transfers of undertakings, harmonization of employee benefits and other cross-border arrangements.

Mrs Lagesse was elected to the National Bar Council of France in 2005. She studied law at the University of Paris II (Maîtrise Carrières Judiciaires) and Paris I (DEA en Droit Privé). She lectures frequently in France and abroad on a wide range of employment-related topics.

Mrs Lagesse is active in a variety of legal organizations. She is the Vice-Chair (France) of the IBA Global Employment Institute and a Member of Best Lawyer's Advisory Board. She served as Chair of the International Bar Association's Employment and Industrial Relations Law Committee from 2009 to 2011.
