The Author

Dr Deirdre Madden is a graduate of University College Cork, National University of Ireland (BCL, LLM, PhD) and a qualified barrister-at-law. She is a Senior Lecturer in Law in UCC with research interests and publications in the area of medical law and ethics. She has been a member of the Irish Medical Council since 2004.

In 2005 she was appointed by the Minister for Health to write a final report on post-mortem practice and procedure, subsequently known as the Madden Report. Dr Madden was also appointed Chairperson of the Commission on Patient Safety and Quality Assurance, which published its report, entitled Building a Culture of Patient Safety, in July 2008.

Dr Madden is a member of a number of national and international committees and research projects related to medical law and ethics, and is also a Fellow of the Hastings Center in the United States.
