GUIDE TO THE INSOLVENCY LEGISLATION

THIRTEENTH EDITION

VOLUME 2

PREFACE TO THE THIRTEENTH EDITION

On April 6, 2010 the Insolvency Rules 1986 will be extensively altered when the Insolvency (Amendment) Rules 2010 (SI 2010/686) come into force and, on the same day, the Legislative Reform (Insolvency) (Miscellaneous Amendments) Order 2010 (SI 2010/18), which makes some significant changes to the Insolvency Act 1986, will also become operative. These two legislative measures, which run to over 200 pages in total, are a major step in the government's programme for the modernisation of Insolvency Law, following upon the relaxed advertising regime which was introduced in April 2009. The project will reach its culmination in the consolidation of the Insolvency Rules into a single piece of legislation that is planned to become operative on April 6, 2011, together with a consolidation of the rest of insolvency secondary legislation into various instruments to come into force at the same time.

The amending Rules in their final form were only published on March 10, 2010 and it has required a major effort, particularly on the part of our publishers' editorial team, to get the work into print so that it will be available to our readers as soon as possible after the operative date. The task was made all the more challenging because the government on March 12, 2010 announced that the new Rules were to be corrected and in some places clarified by a further statutory instrument which became the Insolvency (Amendment) (No.2) Rules 2010 (SI 2010/734), and that the Insolvency (Scotland) Rules 1986 were also to be amended with effect from April 6, 2010. This was done by the Insolvency (Scotland) Amendment Rules 2010 (SI 2010/688 (S 2)). We have been able to incorporate both of these additional measures into the text of this edition.

The amendments to the Rules will make much of the text and commentary in the current twelfth edition of this work obsolete, and so we have decided to bring forward the publication of this edition of the work to the spring of 2010 rather than delay it until our customary annual date in October. For this purpose the text of the Insolvency Rules 1986 has been fully updated, incorporating all the amendments made by the 2010 legislation and the annotations to the Rules have been revised to explain the reforms that have been made. In other parts of both volumes the commentary has been reviewed to ensure that full account is taken of the effect of the changes made by the new Rules, and cross-references have been altered where necessary to bring them into line with both the substance and the numeration of the rules as amended.

Among the innovations which have been introduced by the amending rules are:

- provisions facilitating the holding of meetings without the physical presence of the participants, e.g. by telephone conference or electronic means;
- elimination in most cases of the use of affidavits and their replacement by witness statements or statements of truth;
- provisions allowing pre-administration and costs as expense of the administration;
- authorisation of the use of electronic means and websites for the communication of information and the sending and service of documents;
- new provisions on block transfer orders;
- further clarification of the linkage with the Civil Procedure Rules; and
- a new Part 12A (dealing with matters of general effect).

Not all of these changes have retrospective effect, so as to apply to insolvencies which are ongoing on April 6, 2010. So practitioners should be aware that they will continue to need to refer to the old rules and that it will be wise to keep their copy of the twelfth edition when they buy the new one!

In addition, the text of the Insolvency Act 1986 has been amended to take account of the changes made by the 2010 Legislative Reform Order, and all of the other legislation reproduced in both volumes of the work has been brought up to date.

The amending Rules are extensive in their range and add considerably to the length and bulk of the Rules as a whole, and this has put such pressure on space in Volume 1 that we have reluctantly had to move the EC Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings into Volume 2, at least for the present edition. We hope that this will not cause too much inconvenience to our readers.

Necessarily, the amount of new case-law to be incorporated into the commentary has been reduced because there has been a shorter period between this edition and the previous one, but even so readers will find a good number of cases of significance, including Re Bernard L Madoff Investment Securities Ltd [2009] EWHC 442 (Ch), Re Lehman Brothers International (Europe) [2010] EWHC 47 (Ch), Masri v Consolidated Contractors International (UK) Ltd [2009] UKHL 43, Nationwide Building Society v Wright [2009] EWCA Civ 811 and Official Receiver v McKay [2009] EWCA Civ 467.

It is a pleasure once again to express our thanks to our friend and colleague Peter Bailey for his help and support, and to thank our publishers and their staff for their help at all stages of production. We would like also to thank those of our readers who have sent us comments and queries, brought some unreported judgments to our notice and drawn our attention to errors. These contributions are always most welcome. We are grateful also to the officials of the Policy Unit of the Insolvency Service, particularly for having made available early drafts of the amending Rules which enabled us to make a start on revising the work several weeks in advance of the publication of the final text.

Apart from the changes made by the amendments to the Insolvency Rules and the Scottish Insolvency Rules mentioned above, the law is stated as at February 28, 2010, although some later developments have been added at proof stage where space permits.
