Editor's Note

The cases in this book have been edited and, in some cases, heavily edited in order to enhance student clarity and understanding. Footnotes have been largely removed from the cases, although some have remained when the editors determined they provided insight and dimension to the learning experience.

This book has been written to make learning a difficult subject more straight forward and pertinent to the practice of law. We value your input and feedback. If you have any comments, questions, notations of error, or otherwise, please send your feedback to us at EvidenceCasebook@gmail.com.

Preface

This book is designed to be different than traditional textbooks in a number of ways. Those differences are detailed in Chapter 1. Importantly, the authors have attempted to cover the subject of Evidence both thoroughly and yet with enough brevity to keep the experience as interesting and complete as possible.

The authors would like to thank Louis Higgins and all of the individuals at West and Red Line Editorial for their assistance in the creation of this book

Syd Beckman would like to thank his wife, Allyson, for all of her support through this and all of his projects.

Susan Crump would like to thank her husband, Les, for his wisdom, support and endless patience, as well as her daughter Catherine and son John for their legal insights and suggestions.

Fred Galves would like to thank his wife, Christine, and his two sons, Anthony and Johnston, for all of their love, support, and understanding in all endeavors.
