

An Outline of The Law of Product Liability and Consumer Protection

RONALD IRVING

olicitor

Barry Rose (Publishers) Ltd.

219-25812.1
AN OUTLINE

of

THE LAW OF
PRODUCT
LIABILITY

and

CONSUMER
PROTECTION

BY

RONALD IRVING

© 1980 Ronald Irving

SBN 0 85992 166 2

Published by
BARRY ROSE (Publishers) Ltd
Chichester, West Sussex
Printed by
Adams & Sons (Printers) Ltd
East Street, Hereford

CONTENTS

CHAPTER I — THE CONSUMER TRANSACTION 21

- The civil law
- Compensation through the criminal law
- “No refunds”
- Powers of criminal courts
- Contractual Nature of a consumer transaction
- When a contract is binding
- Subject to contract
- Unfair terms
- Special terms
- Guarantees
- Contracts which are not binding in law
- Offer and acceptance in a self-service shop
- Legal nature of sale
- Transfer of ownership
- Responsibility of buyer where goods are damaged after agreement for sale
- Storage by the seller
- Articles on display
- Consumer choice
- Quality
- Examination
- Exchanging goods
- Credit notes
- Sales “on approval”
- Goods mistakenly delivered

CHAPTER II — LIABILITY OF SELLER FOR DEFECTS

35

- Retailer is strictly liable for defective goods
- Samples and descriptions
- Merchantable quality

Rejection of defective article
 Product life and durability
 Where buyer examines article for defects before purchase
 Where buyer relies on seller's advice
 Special requirements
 "Reasonably fit for its purpose"
 Foodstuffs
 Food poisoning in a restaurant
 Quality of food in restaurants
 Prosecution for sale of unwholesome food
 Controls under the Food and Drugs Act
 Second-hand, shop-soiled or imperfect goods
 Sale of unroadworthy vehicles
 Sales not in the course of business
 Buying from a private seller

CHAPTER III — UNFAIR TRADING

55

Fair Trading Act, 1973
 Functions of the Director-General of Fair
     Trading
 Breach of order is a criminal offence
 Civil Proceedings to curb unfair trade practices
 Regulation by voluntary codes of practice
 The codes of practice in operation
 Extract from the code of practice for the motor industry
 Resale price maintenance
 Discounts and loss leaders
 Trading stamps
 Right to cash stamps at face value

Unit-pricing and standard packaging
 The Weights and Measures Act, 1963
 (as amended in 1976)
 Inertia selling
 Monopolies and mergers
 Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1956
 The Fair Trading Act
 Pyramid selling
 Commission for recruitment of agents prohibited
 Rights of participants
 Characteristics of those trading schemes which are regulated

CHAPTER IV — LIABILITY OF THE MANUFACTURER

71

Why sue the manufacturer?
 Position of the non-purchasing consumer who is injured
 Liability of manufacturers for negligence
 Where negligence is self-evident
 Summary
 Warning notices
 Damage to the defective product itself
 Liability of manufacturers in the United States
 Law Commission's proposals for reform
 The Consumer Safety Act, 1978
 Civil Liability is strict
 The safety regulations
 Summary
 Manufacturers' guarantees
 Specific guarantees
 Consumer goods
 Guarantees of items exclusively for business use

Illustrations of manufacturers' liability by way of "guarantee"

CHAPTER V — COMPENSATION FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT

89

Consequences of cancelling an order
Cancelling an order for a second-hand car
Cancelling a special order
Supplier's duty to mitigate loss
Cancelling an order for delay
Time limits
Where time is of the essence
Compensation for losses due to delay
Illustration
Calculating compensation for defects
Loss of profit
Capital loss or profit loss?
Consequential expenses
Liability for unexpectedly extensive losses

CHAPTER VI — TRADE DESCRIPTIONS AND MISREPRESENTATIONS

101

Accuracy of description
Private sellers
Antiques
Novation
New or second-hand
The Misrepresentation Act, 1967
Misleading sales talk
Rescission and damages
Innocent misrepresentation
When the right to rescind is lost by acceptance
Delay bars right of rescission

Excluding liability for misrepresentation
 The Trade Descriptions Act, 1968
 Goods subject to a false trade description
 The Act applies only to traders
 Definition of trade description
 Excellent condition
 Altered mileometers and disclaimers
 Where the trader is buyer
 At what stage was the statement made?
 Misleading indications as to price
 False statements about services, accommodation and facilities
 How and when the false statement may be made False statement as to existing fact, not promise as to future
 Holiday brochures
 Standard of accommodation
 Facilities promised but not provided
 Civil claim
 Overbooking is an offence
 Defences under the Trade Descriptions Act
 Dishonesty
 Mistake or accident as a defence
 Time limit for prosecutions

CHAPTER VII — BUYING AT AUCTION

125

Sale to the highest bidder
 Sales without reserve
 Reserve price
 Inflating the price?
 Offence to "take bids off the wall"
 "The Ring" — agreements not to bid
 When agreements not to bid are permissible

Verbal statements by the auctioneer
 How much consumer protection at auction sales?
 The auctioneer regarded as expert
 Dangerous articles
 Criminal liability and compensation under
     the Trade Descriptions Act, 1968
 The danger of buying stolen goods
 Mock auctions

CHAPTER VIII — UNFAIR CONTRACT TERMS 133

Trader excusing own breaches of contract prohibited unless reasonable
 Only "reasonable" exemption clauses permitted
 Liability for quality of goods cannot be excluded
 Consumer rental, hire and exchange
 Agreements for work and materials
 "Dealing as a consumer"
 Auctions
 Business customers
 Liability for personal injury can never be excluded
 Negligence causing loss other than personal injury
 Guidelines for application of the reasonableness test
 Businesses affected by the Act
 Conclusion

CHAPTER IX — "QUANTUM MERUIT" — WHAT                                   IS A FAIR PRICE? 140

Unauthorised work
 Dealing with garages
 Payment under protest
 Deception
 Paying the bill
 Faulty workmanship
 Duties of contractor

Payment for uncompleted work
Minor defects
Getting an estimate
Fixing a price in advance
Extras
Checking an estimate
From estimate to contract
Free estimates
Reckoning a fair price
The right of traders to retain goods until paid
A particular lien
General liens
Disadvantage of liens
When a trader may dispose of uncollected goods

CHAPTER X — A FAIR DEAL FROM THE PROFESSIONS

152

Three-year time limit on claims
Negligence of repairers
Services
Contractors
Electrical Contractors Association
Defective installations
Professional persons
Doctors, surgeons and dentists
Responsibility of hospital for anaesthetists and nurses
Record damages
Less skill expected of nurses
Risks inherent in certain operations
Patient's right to information
Proving negligence
Where negligence is obvious

Computing compensation
Medical confidences
Examples of negligence by an architect or surveyor
Architects
Architects' fees
Architect's supervision of construction
Liability of builder
The case of the attractive show house
NHBC 10-year guarantee for new houses Liability of local authority for building inspectors' survey
How long can liability last?
Getting a surveyor's report
Duty of building society's surveyor
Estate Agents Act
Estate agents and deposits
Interest on deposits
Estate agents and confidential information
Breach of trust by the estate agent
Sales talk by estate agents
When estate agents are entitled to claim commission
Avoiding double commission
Sole selling rights and sole agency
Accountants and auditors
When accountants have a "special relationship"
Barristers and solicitors
Confidentiality and privilege
Secret profits and commissions
Interest on clients' money
Fees must be "fair and reasonable"
Solicitors' bills
Certificate of reasonableness

Payment under protest
When a solicitor may refuse to act for the client
Conflicting interests
Acting for both parties
How much law must a solicitor know?
Unpleasant advice
Examples of negligence
"Special Relationship" of solicitors to the public
Complaints to the Law Society
Dishonesty of solicitors

CHAPTER XI — PAYING YOUR WAY

185

Tender by cash or cheque
Legal tender by coins
Tender must be unconditional
Payment by post
Which account is to be credited? —
Common law rules
Allocating a payment to a particular account
Payments in advance
Protection of mail order payments
Trust deposit account for customer's money
Receipts — their form and legal significance
A paid cheque is proof of payment
Dead debts
Right to demand a statement of account
Running accounts and rental accounts
Right to information without fee
Right to termination statement without fee
Statement of account is conclusive
Part payment
Rules for recovery of mistaken payments
Paying by cheque

Forgery
Stopping a cheque
Computer error
When a cheque is dishonoured
Claiming compensation where a cheque is wrongly dishonoured
Protection of debtors
Unlawful harassment
Court action permitted
Protecting consumers against promissory notes
Duplicate liability of consumer prohibited
A word of caution

CHAPTER XII — CONSUMER CREDIT 208

Consumer credit terminology
Meaning of credit
Total charge for credit
Various categories of credit
Debtor-creditor-supplier agreements
Restriction on door-to-door canvassing for debtor-creditor transactions
Credit control through licensing
Credit brokerage
Danger of unlicensed trading as a creditor-broker
Duty to refund brokerage fees
Penalties for non-compliance with requirements of the Consumer Credit Act

CHAPTER XIII — CREDIT RATING 219

Credit reference agencies
Correcting a consumer's credit record
Truth in borrowing — the penalties for deception
Evading a debt

Overdrafts
 Insurance policies
 Payment on the spot

CHAPTER XIV — TRUTH IN LENDING 227

The true rate of borrowing
 Credit charge
 Excessive rates of interest
 History of moneylending
 Extortionate credit bargains
 Criteria for determining if a credit bargain is extortionate
 Powers of the court
 Interest on instalments not paid on time Judgment in the county court prevents interest running
 Interest on High Court judgments
 Interest prior to judgment

CHAPTER XV — CREDIT CARDS, CHEQUE CARDS, TOKENS AND CHECK TRADING 235

Credit cards
 Mode of employment
 Credit token agreements
 How credit cards work
 Period of credit without interest
 Usefulness of credit cards
 Check trading
 Liability for misuse of credit tokens
 Liability of credit card company for suppliers
 Cheque cards
 Misuse of cheque cards

CHAPTER XVI — HIRE-PURCHASE AND CREDIT SALES AND CONDITIONAL SALES

244

Hiring and Rental
Hire-purchase
Conditional sale and credit sale agreements
Credit sale
Termination
Conditional sale and hire-purchase
Complexity of credit arrangement
When an agreement is regulated
Hire-purchase and conditional sale compared with credit sale
Responsibility of the dealer
Responsibility of the finance company
(creditor) for dealer
Complaints regarding goods on hire-purchase
Terms implied in favour of credit customer
Samples and descriptions
Prior inspection by consumer
Rebates for early payment
Returning hire-purchase goods
Price of termination by consumer
Getting into arrears
Variations of the hire-purchase agreement
Termination of non-regulated hire-purchase agreements
Repudiation by customer of hire-purchase agreement
Default notice must be sent to the consumer
Consequences of invalid notice
One-third minimum payment rule
Penalty for wrongful "snatch-back"

When a "snatch-back" is valid
 Restriction on entering premises
 What order will the court make?
 Court can vary previous orders
 Return order
 Transfer order
 Failure to take reasonable care of the goods
 Unlawful sale of goods held on hire-purchase or conditional sale

CHAPTER XVII — RENTAL AND HIRE

261

Implied terms in favour of hirer
 Exemption clauses in hiring
 Consumer hire agreements
 Hirer's right of termination (up to £300 p.a.)
 How to terminate under Section 101
 Rights and duties on termination Default notice where hirer fails to keep up instalments
 Hire and hire-purchase contrasted
 Hire-purchase and hire sometimes confused
 Hirer's rights on repossession by company
 Repayment to hirer where owner recovers goods
 Wrongful sale of goods held on hire

CHAPTER XVIII — RIGHTS OF WITHDRAWAL AND CANCELLATION

267

Time for withdrawal
 Sending notice of withdrawal
 Consequence of withdrawal
 Reclaiming the deposit on withdrawal
 Cancellable agreements and the cooling-off period
 Doorstep selling
 Where was agreement signed?

Time limit for cancellation
Written notice of cancellation is essential
Effect of notice of cancellation
Returning goods after cancellation

CHAPTER XIX — GUARANTEEING RELATIVES AND FRIENDS 274

Security must be written Simplicity and convenience
Indemnity need not be written
Policies of insurance need not be written Guarantee contrasted with indemnity
Protection of indemnifiers
Rights of every surety
Consumer under eighteen
Summary of protection given to guarantors and indemnifiers

CHAPTER XX — SHOPS AND SHOPLIFTING 280

Is a shop a public place?
Liability of shops for safety of customers
Danger of spillages
Unsafe shop display
Shoplifting
Arrest and wrongful arrest
Arrest by a private person
Suspect's right to remain silent
Mistakes on the part of the shop
Dishonest intention necessary
Previous convictions
Legal costs

CHAPTER XXI—CRIME AND THE CONSUMER 288

Buying stolen goods
---------------------	--