for Karen
and Shea

It happened just this morning something rather strange,

I walked into my daughter's room and saw that she had changed.

The happy girl that I once knew was gone without a trace.

I bet aliens took my daughter and left one in her place.

Aliens took my daughter they thought we wouldn't know.

But what else could explain a little girl who sucks her toe?

Or why our perfect angel would smear oatmeal on her face?

Oh yes, aliens took my daughter
and left one in her place.

She looked just like our pride and joy but clearly she was not!

No little girl of mine would ever swim inside the pot or try to bite the kitty and then drink out of a vase.

No doubt aliens took my daughter
and left one in her place.

We said we'd treat her like our own and try to make the best.

But something strange would happen when we put her in a dress.

I guess the buff is good enough when you're from outer space
