The Editors

Hanne S. Birkmose took her Ph.D. in law at the Aarhus School of Business in 2003. The Ph.D. thesis was about regulatory competition in European company law. In 2007, she was appointed associate professor at the Department of Law, Business and Social Sciences, Aarhus University. Her research areas include company law – in particular international company law and EU company law – and corporate governance, and she has written several national and international articles in these areas. She has recently mainly worked with shareholder activism and the role of institutional shareholders. Hanne S. Birkmose is a member of the Nordic Company Law Network and the Nordic Corporate Governance Network.

Mette Neville is professor at the Department of Law, Business and Social Sciences, Aarhus University, Denmark. Her main research area is company law and corporate governance. She holds a Ph.D. degree for which she was awarded Gad's Law Award. She is, e.g., the Vice-chairman of the Danish Securities Council and Chairman of the Disciplinary Committee at Nord Pool ASA, OMX and member of the Committee for Financial Supervision. She participates in many different networks; for example, she is Chairman of the Board of the Danish Corporate Governance Network, member of the Company Law Research Group and a member of the Nordic Network for Company Law, head of an interdisciplinary research group on SMEs. She is one of the two editors of the SSRN e-journal Nordic and European Company Law.

Karsten Engsig Sørensen is professor at the Department of Law, Business and Social Sciences, Aarhus University, Denmark. He is also director of the Centre for International Business Law (CIBL). He holds a Danish law degree, a Ph.D. (on EU company law), and a Danish dr. jur. (on joint ventures). He also obtained an LL.M. from the University of Exeter. His research is mainly focused on EU law and company law, and in these areas he has published several books and articles in both Danish and English. He is one of the two editors of the SSRN e-journal Nordic and European Company Law, and a member of the Nordic Network for Company Law.
