The Authors

Professor Mario E. Ackerman graduated from the Law and Social Sciences School of the National University of Buenos Aires in 1973.

Even before his graduation, he entered the Ministry of Labour where he developed technical functions in the area of publications and library resources. He continued his administrative career in Legislative Power where, after holding different positions, he works, at present, as Technical Advisor of the Labour Law Commission. In 1987 he became National Director of the Labour Inspection in the Ministry of Labour and Social Security of Argentina.

At the same time, Professor Ackerman started his academic career as professor of Labour Law and Social Law in the Argentina Pontifical Catholic University and in the University of Belgrano. Presently, and since 1981, he has held the position of professor of Labour Law and Social Security in the Law and Social School of the National University of Buenos Aires.

He has been professor in the third and fourth International Course of Comparative Labour Law, respectively developed in the Pontifical Catholic University of Peru, in 1987, and in Passo Fundo, Brasil, in 1988.

Professor Ackerman has given numerous lectures about labour law and industrial relations in Argentina as well as abroad and has attended national and international conferences about such matters.

He is a member of the Latin American Institute of Labour Law and Social Security, the International Association of Industrial Relations and the Argentine Association of Labour Law and Social Security, where he was secretary from 1982–1984.

He has published several books and various articles on labour law and has cooperated in many collective works published in his own country and abroad.

He is currently a member of the Argentine Association of Labour Law where he first acted as a member of the Board of Directors and later as Secretary of said board.

Professor Adrián O. Goldin graduated from the Law and Social Sciences School of the National University of Buenos Aires in 1968. In 1970, at the same university, he became an assistant professor of labour law, which position he held until 1976 when he was appointed professor. In 1985 he was designated Permanent Researcher of the University's Institute of Judicial and Social Research. In 1988 he was appointed Professor of Social Law (of Labour and Social Security) at the Juridical and Social Sciences School of the National University of La Plata, a position he presently holds. He also is a member of the Post-Graduate Studies Commission.

Professor Goldin has also held the post of professor of the Labour Law Specialization Career and in the Licenciature on Labour-Management Relations at the School of Law and Social Sciences of Buenos Aires University, as well as in the Licenciature in Legal Counseling for Business Enterprises at the Argentine University of Business Enterprise. He has been a member of the Honorary Advising Committee of the National Board of Technics and Sciences Research; Director of Graduate Courses on Labour Law at the Supreme Court of Justice of the State of Buenos Aires; Member of the Board of Directors of the Teachers' Association at the School of Law and Social Sciences of Buenos Aires University and President of the Labour Law Commission of the Buenos Aires Lawyers' Association.

In 1986 after having acted as Cabinet Advisor to the Ministry of Labour and Social Security, Professor Goldin was appointed the Nation's Undersecretary of labour, a position he held until he resigned on 30 March 1987.

Professor Goldin has given numerous lectures in Argentina and abroad, has directed courses and seminars and has attended national and international conferences pertaining to his specialization while acting as chairman as well as a reporter and submitting papers. He is currently a member of the Argentine Association of Labour Law where he first acted as a member of the Board of Directors and later as Secretary. He has had numerous books and articles on Labour Law published in Argentina as well as abroad and has collaborated with other authors on works and studies in the field of Labour Law.
