This is an enlarged and revised version of a work which was originally published in 1972 and was then intended to be the first of two volumes. Instead, this edition has been prepared. It contains all of the material in the original 1972 publication, revised and re-edited. All of the material following page 142 is new in this edition.

RICHARD WINDISHAR and LT. HARVEY A. VARAT demonstrate most of the weaponless techniques with the author. Officers RICHARD J. NICKOLOFF and WILLIAM D. ESMAY demonstrate most of the baton techniques. Alice McGrath, Harry Rosemond, Kathy Wilson and Neil Ziegler assisted.

Practical, ethical and effective tactics for law enforcement today. A complete course of weaponless defense and control and baton techniques for law enforcement which gives maximum protection to the officer and uses minimum appropriate force.

**Procedures to avoid and prevent assault.

**Preparation to deal effectively with many common assault situations without reliance on firearms.

**Ways of coping with the actual problems the working police officer encounters on the job.

**Tactics cover a wide range of situations--from mild resistance to defending against dangerous assault.

**Unlike traditional martial arts, these tactics can be learned in a relatively short time.

This book is intended for professionals in law enforcement and security work, for academy programs and for police science and administration of justice courses at the college level.
