A number of individuals and organisations have provided necessary support in the completion of this project and without them it would not have come to fruition.

The Diocese of Ely provided support and encouragement and a three-month period of sabbatical leave spent very happily in the Faculty of Law at Cambridge University. The parishioners of Girton and, latterly, Winchmore Hill have been tolerant and encouraging. Colleagues and friends at Cardiff University, particularly Augur Pearce and Norman Doe, have provided guidance, wisdom and expertise. Thanks must also be expressed to others who have kept me on the straight and narrow: Professor John Tiley, Dr Amanda and the late Dr Emile Perreau-Saussine in Cambridge, Professor Paul Avis at Church House, Westminster, Sarah Lloyd and Caroline Spender at Ashgate, and Dr Ross Armstrong of New Zealand, a fellow student of Anglican history, who prepared the tables and index.

Finally, none of this would have been possible without the support and forbearance of Lindsay, Liberty and Anastasia, even if they do not relish diversions on family holidays to visit the sites of important faculty cases.
