The Authors

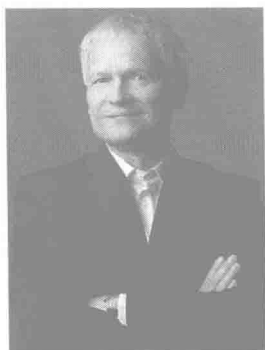

JUDr. Radim Polčák, Ph.D. is the head of the Institute of Law and Technology at the Law Faculty at Masaryk University. He teaches and publishes in ICT law and legal theory at Masaryk University and lectures as a guest at law schools in the Czech Republic, Austria, Germany, UK, Netherlands and Hungary. In addition, Dr Polčák is the general chair of the Cyberspace annual international symposium; editor-in-chief of the Masaryk University Journal of Law and Technology; editor-in-chief of the Review of Law and Technology (Revue pro právo a technologie) and a member of the editorial boards and governing bodies of ICT-law focused scientific journals and international conferences in the Czech Republic, UK, Germany and Hungary. He is a member of the Council of the European Law Institute, a panellist at the EU ADR arbitration court, a member of the Appellate Tribunal of the Czech Ministry of Transport and a member of various governmental and scientific expert and advisory bodies and project consortia.

JUDr. Jiří Čermák is an attorney at law firm Baker & McKenzie LLP in Prague where he heads IP and ICT practice groups. He specializes in information technology law (in particular, computer and software law, internet law and IT outsourcing), intellectual property law (in particular, trademark, copyright and media law) and in related litigation. He regularly gives lectures on ICT law and IP law at Law Faculty of Charles University in Prague and lectures as a guest at law schools in Brno and Plzeň and at European Patent Office in Munich. Dr Čermák is also a member of the editorial boards and governing bodies of ICT-law focused scientific journals and international conferences in the Czech Republic.

The Authors

Mgr. Zbyněk Loeb, LL.M. is a member of Rowan Legal LLP. He specializes in technology-related projects, law of internet, convergence, electronic communications, electronic commerce, technology law, data protection, ICT security, intellectual property law, and general commercial matters. In addition, Mgr. Loeb has managed several international Internet projects related to online dispute resolution (ODR) and domain names. Until the end of 2007, Zbynek Loeb was a Managing Partner of CEAG <www.ceag.biz> and also head of CEAG's E-Economy Practice Group. Mgr. Loeb is also an active member of IP Constituency of ICANN, a panellist of the Czech Arbitration Court in Prague for the resolution of EU disputes, an arbitrator with this Court and a member of an Appeal Board of the Chairman of the Czech Office for the Protection of Personal Data.

Doc. JUDr. Bc. Tomáš Grřivna, Ph.D. is a member of the Department of Criminal Law at the Faculty of Law of Charles University. He teaches and publishes in criminal law, cybercrime and cybersecurity. He is a member of editorial boards and governing bodies of various criminal law-focused legal journals and scientific conferences in the Czech Republic. He is also a practising lawyer, a member of the Czech Bar Association and expert advisor to various business and public bodies.

JUDr. Ján Matejka, Ph.D. is the head of the Department of Private Law and the deputy director of the Institute of State and law of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic. He teaches and publishes in ICT law and certain aspects of private law and data security law at the Charles University in Prague Faculty of Mathematics and Physics. Dr Matejka also works as Attorney-at-Law. His practice includes all aspects of ICT law and related areas as well as all activities focused on intellectual property, regulatory, legislative, litigation and corporate issues for these industries. Dr Matejka is a member of editorial board of the journal – The Lawyer (Právník), a member of the editorial board of the Review of Law and Technology (Revue pro právo a technologie) and a coordinator of a number of scientific projects.

JUDr. Michal Petr is the vice president of the Czech Office for the Protection of Competition. After a brief period as a legal practitioner, he joined the Office in 2003. Until 2010 he was responsible for the legislation, inter alia preparing all the amendments to the Czech Competition Act and the new Leniency Programme of 2007. Currently, he heads the Competition Section of the Office. Apart from his work in the Office, he is also an assistant professor for Competition Law at universities in Brno and Olomouc. He is co-author of a monograph on antitrust in the Czech Republic and an author of numerous articles on Competition Law in Czech and European legal periodicals.

English language review provided by Jerald Wulff, funded by the project of the Grant Agency of the Czech Republic No. 407/09/1823, Normative regulation of the environment of computer networks in particular to the Internet, 2009–2011.
