Preface

It is with great pride that the Editors of the American Biographical Institute completed this Second Edition of THE INTERNATIONAL DIRECTORY OF DISTINGUISHED LEADERSHIP. In our opinion we have selected a most worthy group of individuals from around the world to represent distinguished and dedicated leadership within their respective communities. In many instances the deeds of these men and women have affected not only the communities in which they live but also their states, provinces, and nations.

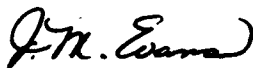

Approximately 8000 names appear in this Second Edition, including a section devoted to outstanding young leaders of society. The volume also includes the names and photographs of the Institute's Hall of Fame honorees for this series and the lengthy biographies of those to whom this Edition is dedicated.

The Second Edition of THE INTERNATIONAL DIRECTORY OF DISTINGUISHED LEADERSHIP will be distributed to public and private libraries around the globe. Without a doubt it will be used as an authoritative source on distinguished leaders of our time by historians, biographers, researchers, librarians, genealogists, students, and many others. The American Biographical Institute has been recognizing the lives of prominent persons for over twenty years and will continue to do so for the generations of the future.

Much appreciation is extended to the American Biographical Institute Research Board of Advisors—a 5500 member organization that assists the American Biographical Institute in its search for prestigious candidates for publication; also to the American Biographical Institute Research Association members for their nominations; and to the corporations, professional associations, community clubs, universities and many others who recommended men and women in positions of positive influence.

My congratulations are hereby given to those included in this volume. You are extraordinary examples of dignified leadership. May your successes continue to be encouragement for others who are striving to build better world communities.

Sincerely,

Delineative Information _____

Individual biographical entries in the Second Edition are arranged according to standard alphabetical practice by last name, and information for publication is consistently and uniformly presented in the categorical order as below.

Editors of the Institute make all attempts to edit accurately the information furnished by each biographée. In the rare event of an error by the publisher, the sole responsibility of the publisher will be to correct such in the subsequent edition of the publication.

Editorial evaluation is the ultimate determinant of publication selection. Admission in this series is based on the value of achievement of recognized outreach of endeavor and not on any purchase prerequisite. There is no fee for listing.

Nomination sources for the Institute's publications are received through personal recommendations by the Institute's Editorial Advisory Board, Research Board of Advisors and esteemed members of the American Biographical Institute Research Association. There are many other sources such as nominations furnished by national universities and colleges; professional, service and civic organizations on the local, state and national levels; and many businesses and government officials. Mailing lists have never been bought or sold. Neither nominees nor nominators are placed under any financial obligation whatsoever. Nominees are contacted for their personal submissions of biographical data and it is these credentials that are editorially reviewed by the Institute's Governing Board of Editors.

Due to the variance in quality of submitted photographs, it is possible for some not to reproduce or print well. Thus, their appearance will not measure up to the publication standards. In such cases, unsuitable photographs would not be included. The Institute makes a great effort to eliminate such photographs before the publication is sent to press, however, the printing processes can cause complications resulting in a poor reproduction.
