ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The editors are grateful to the CME Group Foundation for financial support to organize at Loyola University Chicago a conference titled "New Perspectives on Asset Price Bubbles: Theory, Evidence and Policy." They acknowledge official University support from Abol Jalilvand, Dean of the Business School at Loyola University Chicago; Don Schwartz, Director of the Risk Management Center at Loyola University Chicago; and Susan Phillips, Administrative Assistant, Department of Finance. For assistance with the organization and administration of the conference they thank Graduate Scholars Pooja Agrawal, Eunmi Choi, April Heitz, Joseph Rizzi, and Brian Whelan.

The editors thank the authors Franklin Allen, Gary Gorton, Takeo Hoshi, Anil Kashyap, Ben Bernanke, Mark Gertler, Claudio Borio, Jose Scheinkman, and Wei Xiong for the seminal articles in asset bubble research featured in this volume. They also thank the publishers of the journals where these original contributions appeared for permission to reproduce them. Special thanks are also given to the European Central Bank and the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City for allowing the authors of research presented at these institutions' conferences to include their papers in this volume.

Special thanks also go to contributors of new articles presented at the conference or submitted in the days following the conference, all aimed at updating the state of asset bubble research in light of the financial upheaval over the past few years. Contributors include Gadi Barlevy, Andrew Filardo, Kenneth Kuttner, Viral Acharya, Hassan Naqvi, Werner De Bondt, William Poole, Ben Friedman, Lawrence Christiano, Cosmin Ilut, Roberto Motto, Massimo Rostagno, John Geanakoplos, Tassos Malliaris, Bob Chirinko, and Huntley Schaller.

Finally, the editors are grateful for the valuable guidance during the preparation of this book from Terry Vaughn, Executive Editor; Catherine Rae, Economics Editor; and the staff at Oxford University Press.
