THE NINETEEN NOCTURNES
THE THREE RONDOS

The NOCTURNES (Nightpieces) were written over many years (1831-1847). The most widely played are No. 2, op. 9 (1831), op. 27/1 (1835), and op. 32/2 (1837). They are supposed to awaken a dark, somber and mysterious mood. CHOPIN himself said about one: A calm night in Venice, where the moon lights up the scene while a body, after being murdered is thrown into the waters.
