

The Changing Nature of Doing Business in Transition Economies

Edited by Marin Marinov and
Svetla Marinova

The Changing Nature of Doing Business in Transition Economies

Edited by

Marin Marinov

and

Svetla Marinova

palgrave
macmillan

Selection and editorial content © Marin Marinov and Svetla Marinova 2011
Individual chapters © the contributors 2011

All rights reserved. No reproduction, copy or transmission of this publication may be made without written permission.

No portion of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted save with written permission or in accordance with the provisions of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, or under the terms of any licence permitting limited copying issued by the Copyright Licensing Agency, Saffron House, 6-10 Kirby Street, London EC1N 8TS.

Any person who does any unauthorized act in relation to this publication may be liable to criminal prosecution and civil claims for damages.

The authors have asserted their rights to be identified as the authors of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

First published 2011 by
PALGRAVE MACMILLAN

Palgrave Macmillan in the UK is an imprint of Macmillan Publishers Limited, registered in England, company number 785998, of Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS.

Palgrave Macmillan in the US is a division of St Martin's Press LLC, 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010.

Palgrave Macmillan is the global academic imprint of the above companies and has companies and representatives throughout the world.

Palgrave® and Macmillan® are registered trademarks in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe and other countries.

ISBN 978-0-230-51617-5

This book is printed on paper suitable for recycling and made from fully managed and sustained forest sources. Logging, pulping and manufacturing processes are expected to conform to the environmental regulations of the country of origin.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

The changing nature of doing business in transition economies / edited by Marin Marinov and Svetla Marinova.

p. cm.

Includes index.

ISBN 978-0-230-51617-5 (hardback)

1. Investments, Foreign—Developing countries. 2. Industrial management—Developing countries. 3. Investments, Foreign—Europe, Central. 4. Investments, Foreign—Europe, Eastern. 5. Industrial management—Europe, Central. 6. Industrial management—Europe, Eastern. I. Marinov, Marin, 1948— II. Marinova, Svetla Trifonova. HG5993.C435 2011

338.8'8—dc23

2011018679

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1
20 19 18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11

Printed and bound in Great Britain by
CPI Antony Rowe, Chippenham and Eastbourne

The Changing Nature of Doing Business in Transition Economies

Notes on Contributors

Muris Cicic is Professor at the Department of Marketing of the University of Sarajevo in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Visiting Professor at the University of Podgorica in Montenegro and the University of Shkoder in Albania. His research interests and experience are in marketing in general and consumer behavior in particular with a focus on transition economies.

Stefan Eckert is Professor of International Management at the International Graduate School Zittau in Germany. He conducted research at the Strasbourg Graduate School of Management (IECS). In 2003, Dr Eckert was granted the post-doctoral lecture qualification by the Department of Social and Economic Sciences of the University of Bamberg.

Marian Gorynia is Rector and Professor of Economics of Poznan University of Economics in Poland. He has conducted many research projects and has a number of publications as books, chapters in books and papers in academic journals. His areas of expertise include corporate strategy, internationalization of Polish firms and foreign direct investment strategies in Poland.

Melika Husić-Mehmedović is Assistant Professor and Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs at the School of Economics and Business at the University of Sarajevo in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Areas of professional interest consumer behavior, luxury consumption, fashion marketing, public and media relations.

Valtteri Kaartemo is Lecturer of International Business at the Turku School of Economics, Finland. His research interests are in the areas of internationalization, more specifically in international demand and innovation.

Zoran Krupka is Research Assistant at the Faculty of Economics and Business, University of Zagreb in Croatia. He teaches brand management and international marketing courses. His research interests are international marketing and internationalization.

Jorma Larimo is Professor of Marketing and Head of the Department of Marketing at the University of Vaasa in Finland. His areas of research include the internationalization of small- and medium-sized enterprises, international investments, alliance strategies and performance, and entry and marketing strategies in transition economies.

Kari Liuheto is Professor and Director of the Pan-European Institute at the University of Turku in Finland. His research interests are in economic and business development in the Baltic region and Russia with a special focus on foreign direct investment and cross-border cooperation. He directs the publication of Baltic Rim Economies Review.

Marin Marinov is Professor of International Business and Management at the Business School of the University of Gloucestershire in the UK. His research interests are in internationalization, foreign direct investment and international management mostly in the context of emerging market economies.

Svetla Marinova holds a PhD in international business from Copenhagen Business School in Denmark. Her research interests are in international marketing, internationalization of firms, country and firm-specific advantages and outward foreign direct investment of companies from emerging markets.

Ken Morita is Professor at the Faculty of Economics at Hiroshima University, Japan. He has conducted extensive interdisciplinary research, particularly focusing upon commodity futures market and foreign direct investment predominately in transition economies.

Jan Nowak is Professor of Marketing at the Central European University Business School, Hungary. He has conducted research and published in the areas of marketing and international business. Dr Nowak has collaborated with scholars from all over the world and has conducted studies applied to a variety of countries in Europe, North America, Asia and the South Pacific.

Nikolai Ostapenko is Associate Professor at the School of Business and Public Administration of the University of the District of Columbia in the USA. His research focuses on market transformation of the East European economies, changing consumption models, new patterns of consumer behavior, branding strategies, customer education and related issues.

Durdana Ozretic-Dosen is Professor of Marketing at the Faculty of Economics and Business of the University of Zagreb in Croatia. She is national representative at the European Marketing Academy. Her research interests are in marketing in an intercultural cross-border environment in particular in emerging market countries.

Almir Peštek is Doctoral candidate at the Faculty of Economics at the University of Sarajevo in Bosnia and Herzegovina. His research interests are in marketing, marketing research, consumer behavior and management.

Frank Rossmeissl is Head of Strategic Management and Innovation Practice. He holds a Doctoral Degree from the International Graduate School Zittau in Germany. His research focuses on restructuring the competencies of network organizations and the role dynamics of German subsidiaries in Central and Eastern Europe.

Arnold Schuh is Director of the Competence Center for Central and Eastern Europe at Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration in Austria. His primary research areas are marketing and strategic management. Current research and publications focus on international business strategies, marketing in Central and Eastern Europe and the influence of globalization/Europeanization on strategies and structures of multinational corporations.

Vatroslav Skare is a Teaching and Research Assistant at the Faculty of Economics and Business of the University of Zagreb in Croatia. His areas of research interest are product development, service marketing and internet marketing.

Mart Sörg is Professor of Money and Banking and Head of the Institute of Finance and Accounting at the University of Tartu in Estonia. His research interests and publications are in monetary systems and monetary policies of transition countries, banking system reconstruction and developing and economic education in economies in transition.

Eiko Tomiyama has Masters and Doctoral degrees in Economics from Niigata University in Japan. Her research is focused on emerging market economies investigating strategic marketing issues and the internationalization of small- and medium-sized enterprises. She provides a consulting service for Japanese companies formulating strategies for entering the Russian market.

Liviu Voinea is Senior Lecturer at the National School for Political and Administrative Studies in Bucharest, Romania. He is also Executive Director of the Group of Applied Economics in Bucharest. His research interests are in emerging market economies and changes in the business environment of economies in transition.

Radoslaw Wolniak is Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Economics of Warsaw University in Poland. His research is in the area of inward and outward foreign direct investment and national competitiveness in the context of Central and Eastern Europe.

Mirela Xheneti is Researcher at the Small Business Research Centre at Kingston University in London in the UK. Her research interests are in entrepreneurship and small business development in post-communist countries and especially the role of institutions and policies in creating a framework for productive entrepreneurial activities.

Contents

List of Figures	x
List of Tables	xi
Notes on Contributors	xiv
1 Introduction	1
Svetla Marinova and Marin Marinov
2 Grading Up or Fading Out?: The Elusive Destiny of Psychic Market Proximity-Seeking Subsidiaries in Central and Eastern Europe	9
Stefan Eckert and Frank Rossmeissl
Foreign-owned subsidiaries as a driving force of transition and integration processes	9
European Union accession and the role of foreign subsidiaries	10
Theoretical considerations	12
Tasks of CEE subsidiaries	16
European integration and CEE markets	19
Consequences for the role of market-seeking CEE subsidiaries	21
(P&G) in Central Europe	23
Conclusions	25
3 EU Enlargement and Inward FDI in Central Europe: An Evolutionary Game Approach	30
Ken Morita
Introduction	30
Inward FDI into Central Europe	31
The evolutionary game theoretical perspective	37
Interpretation: why has inward FDI in Central Europe increased?	40
Conclusions	41
Acknowledgements	43

4 Globalizing Brands?: Brand Strategies of Western Multinational Corporations in Central and Eastern Europe	47
Arnold Schuh
Introduction	47
The strategy dilemma of Western consumer goods firms in CEE	48
Evidence of market globalization in the fast-moving consumer goods markets of CEE	54
Limitations of the study	59
Conclusions and discussion	59
Acknowledgments	64
5 Luxury Consumption in Emerging Markets	68
Melika Husić-Mehmedović, Nikolai Ostapenko and Muris Cicic
Introduction	68
Defining luxury products	68
Motivational drivers for luxury consumption	69
Luxury industry composition and global fashion centers	71
Global luxury consumers and demand for luxury products	73
Drivers of regional luxury consumption in the Balkans	75
Luxury consumption and affluent behavior in European Russia	78
Conclusions	83
6 The Brewing Industry in CEE: Growth and Development	87
Jorma Larimo, Marin Marinov and Svetla Marinova
Introduction	87
Trends in the development of the brewing industry	88
CEE brewing industry	89
Market entry and market servicing strategies in CEE	90
Investment and ownership strategies	94
Problems and performance in CEE markets	95
Conclusions	100

7 Special Economic Zones in Russia: Can They Lead to an Economic Boom Similar to the Chinese?	104
Kari Liuhto and Valtteri Kaartemo
Introduction	104
Special economic zones	107
Policy lessons	114
Executive summary	116
Acknowledgments	119
8 The Changing Russian Economy: Export Channel Strategies of Japanese Companies	123
Eiko Tomiyama
Introduction	123
Literature review	125
Problems facing companies entering transition countries	129
Research method	131
Results	132
Findings and analysis	139
Conclusions	141
Implications and recommendations	143
Acknowledgments	145
9 Investing in a Transition Economy: Motives and Modes of Foreign Direct Investment in Poland	148
Marian Gorynia, Jan Nowak and Radoslaw Wolniak
Introduction	148
Motives and modes of FDI	149
Research methodology	160
Analysis of cases	162
Discussion of results and hypotheses	167
Implications and lessons	169
Conclusions and directions for future research	171
Appendix: FDI in Poland's transition process	171
10 Kissing the Frog: The Changing Nature of Doing Business in Romania	183
Liviu Voinea
Dynamics of the economic reform	183
Objective of the analysis and research approach	187

Findings	190
Lessons and conclusions	210
11 Celebrity Endorsement in Brand Management in Croatia	214
Durdana Ozretic-Dosen, Vatroslav Skare and Zoran Krupka
Introduction	214
Literature review	214
Research design and methodology	216
Results and discussion of findings	217
Conclusions	223
12 An Institutional Perspective: The Changing Role of the State in Entrepreneurship Development in Post-Communist Albania	225
Mirela Xheneti
Introduction	225
Institutional theories and entrepreneurship development	227
A brief overview of post-communist Albania	232
Institutional framework for entrepreneurship and SME development	235
Conclusions	249
13 E-marketing Strategies in Emerging Markets: Tourism Industry in Bosnia and Herzegovina	256
Almir Peštek and Muris Cicic
Introduction	256
Impact of information and communication technologies on tourism	257
Use of e-marketing in tourism	260
Tourism in Bosnia and Herzegovina	262
E-marketing strategies in the tourism sector of Bosnia and Herzegovina	270
Concluding remarks	276
14 Transformation of the Estonian Banking System: From Uncertainty to Stability	280
Mart Sõrg
Introduction	280
The first banking reconstruction period 1988–1992	281

Banking transformation in the period 1993–1998	289
Banking since 1999	294
Conclusions	299

Index	303
--------------	-----

List of Figures

2.1	Type of subsidiaries	11
2.2	Cultural change in CEECs	21
3.1	Number of Japan's manufacturing FDI in CEE	36
3.2	Equilibrium in the evolutionary game	39
3.3	Corner solution case	41
3.4	Change of norm case	42
6.1	Market share of the leading breweries in various CEE markets in 2001	99
10.1	Reform stages in the Romanian economy	184
10.2	The microeconomic business environment	190
10.3	Main obstacles to business, survey results (percentage of total)	191
10.4	FDI penetration (2001) and productivity dynamics (2001 compared with 1995) (percentage, by manufacturing sectors)	197
10.5	Performance and specialization in Romanian foreign trade by product group, SITC-2 classification, 2001 vis-à-vis 1993	199
12.1	Commonality of exploiting opportunities to cheat on formal regulations	243
12.2	Business services that are most needed in the Albanian context	246
12.3	Information related barriers by an enterprise perspective	246
12.4	Reasons for not using services by business support structures	247
12.5	Business support infrastructure barriers	248
13.1	www.sarajevo-travel.ba portal	271
14.1	The risk management framework in banking	288

List of Tables

2.1	Evaluation of the motives of MNE's subsidiaries in CEE	17
3.1	Flow of inward FDI in Central Europe (USD million)	32
3.2	Methods of privatization	32
3.3	GDP level (EU average = 100)	33
3.4	Structural reform index	33
3.5	Stock of inward FDI in transition countries (USD million)	34
3.6	Japan's outward FDI (USD million)	34
4.1	Value-based market shares (2001, 1999) by product category and country	56
4.2	Leading marketers of fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) in CEE	57
4.3	Market shares of international brands by cultural grounding category	58
5.1	Strongest luxury brands, 2008	72
5.2	The conglomerates behind major luxury brands	72
5.3	Luxury consumers in the Balkan region	76
6.1	Beer production, imports, exports and consumption in CEE in 1991 (in thousands of litres)	89
6.2	Beer consumption in CEE countries in the period 1996–2001	91
6.3	Ownership strategies and form of investment in CEE brewing industry	96
7.1	Countries of origin for top companies in terms of turnover and R&D spending	105
7.2	Development of knowledge economy indicators in selected countries	105
7.3	Differences between Russian TI-SEZs and Chinese SEZs	106
8.1	Case study findings	133
9.1	Summary characteristics of cases	163
9.2	FDI inflow into Poland from 1990 to 2001 (in USD million and percentage change over previous year)	172
9.3	Per capita FDI and FDI percentage spread in Eastern Europe, in 2000	174

9.4	Stock of FDI in Poland by countries of origin as of 30 June 2002	175
9.5	Stock of FDI in Poland by sectors and industries as of 30 June 2002	176
9.6	Largest foreign investors in Poland by 31 December 2001	177
10.1	Chronology of major reforms	186
10.2	Key macroeconomic indicators for Romania, 1990–2004	188
10.3	Extent of state capture	194
10.4	Exports classification by price–quality ranges (percentage of total exports)	201
10.5	Business indicators (2002)	205
10.6	Business indicators (2004)	206
10.7	State aid characteristics, comparison between Romania and the EU	208
10.8	Microeconomic business environment – a scoreboard	208
11.1	Mean scores of criteria and differences in attitudes regarding gender	218
11.2	Differences in attitudes regarding occupation	221
11.3	Differences in attitudes regarding education	222
12.1	Active enterprises by size and year of creation	234
12.2	Government – business information flow	239
12.3	Additional payments	240
12.4	Difficulties in dealing with government officials by the year of start-up	241
12.5	Attitude towards formal institutions	243
13.1	Share of online travel in Europe and USA, 1999–2007 (percentage of the total market)	259
13.2	Trends in the European online tourism market	259
13.3	Critical success factors	263
13.4	Expected characteristics of tourism websites that lead to repeated visit	263
13.5	Number of tourists in Bosnia and Herzegovina, 1997–2008	265
13.6	Accommodation capacities in Bosnia and Herzegovina per types of facility, 2009	266
13.7	Top ten countries tourists come from	266
13.8	Average tourists' stay in Bosnia and Herzegovina (in days)	266

13.9	Travel and tourism index of Bosnia and Herzegovina's competitiveness, 2009	267
13.10	Details of travel and tourism Bosnia and Herzegovina competitiveness indices, 2009	268
13.11	Descriptive statistics parameters for the observed samples	273
14.1	GDP and inflation in the Baltic states	282
14.2	Income and expenses of Estonian commercial banks in 1992 (EEK million)	285
14.3	Minimum capital requirements for Estonian commercial banks (EEK million)	290
14.4	Growth of assets of the commercial banks in Estonia, 1994–1998	291
14.5	Bank share price dynamics on Tallinn Stock Exchange 1997 (EEK)	293
14.6	Estonian commercial banks' profit account (EEK million)	293
14.7	Laws guiding the activities of the Financial Supervisory Authority	296
14.8	Growth indicators of commercial banks in Estonia, 1998–2003	296
14.9	Some indicators of the Estonian financial sector development	297
14.10	EBRD rating of banking sector reform	298
14.11	Key efficiency ratios in Estonian banking (percentage)	298