

"I see WAR, WAR,
REAL WAR
Everywhere"

America Stands Tall
Israel survives by a whisker
and Apartheid DIES..!

Stanley-Pierre Ngeyi

I See War,War, Real War everywhere:

America Stands Tall,Israel Survives By A Whisker,and Apartheid Dies.

Stanley-Pierre Ngeyi;License es Sc.,Ms.,Ph.D.

~~Madonna University~~

*Edited by: (1st Professor Lynne Nalova
Lyonga; ~~La:Ma:Ph.D.~~ University of Yaounde Cameroon.*

*(2) Professor E.F.Westrum,Jr.
Professor Emeritus,University of Michigan,
Ann Arbor,Michigan*

Mt. Zion Publishing Co.

Fiction/Non-Fiction

Copyright © 1993, by Mt. Zion Pub. Co.

All rights Reserved

No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means be it electronic, mechanical, recording, or any information retrieval or storage system without the expressed authority of the publisher.

Mt. Zion Publishing Company
2068 Merrill Ave.
P.O.Box 1380
Ypsilanti, MI 48197

ISBN 0-9636079-0-1

Printed in the United States of America

List of Figures*

Figure 1: Anisotropic Bipolar world of East-West political dynasties.....190a

Figure 2: Possible future regional coalitions necessitated by the ever increasing desire to survive economically. If this ever came to pass, the Soviet Union (now mainly Russia) and the United States of America may become grave yards of high technology weapons, and superpower by reason of military prowess would lose its raison d'être.....190b

Figure 3: Important Sea lanes for maritime navigation; regions of pollution and environmental degradation. Some rich countries ship their toxic wastes to poor third world countries which lack the resources and the know-how to adequately dispose of the wastes resulting in even greater pollution.....197a

Figure 4: Potential trade routes of the future.....197b

Figure 5: The Islamic Axes stretching from Afghanistan through Azerbaijan, Iran, Pakistan, Iraq, Kuwait, Syria, Saudi Arabia, and Lebanon to Egypt, Libya, Algeria, Morocco, and even Nigeria.....197c

**page 190a follows text page 190; 197b follows 197a; etc*

List of Tables***

- (1) Future Regional Coalitions for Economic Survival.....190c
- (2) Major Countries along the Islamic Axes and within the Flash Point Regions.....197d

* page 190c follows page 190b;etc

DEDICATION

Since this book was finished in 1986 the world has seen revolutions not dreamt of even by the most ardent optimist, thanks, ironically, to the leader of a communist country with the stature of President Gorbachev. During this period even South Africa has felt the tremor. Mr. de Klerk has proven himself to be a man of vision who is genuinely concerned about the future of his own tribe (the Afrikaner tribe) and has realized that the Afrikaners have everything to lose through war but everything to gain through peace. In the eyes of the wise man, de Klerk is a true leader of his people and people of goodwill around the world must wish him more strength, especially for the release of Nelson Mandela.

In the light of the above, I dedicate this piece of work to Mr. de Klerk of South Africa, Mrs. Winnie Mandela - the new mother of Africa - and to the white children of South Africa who must not follow the footsteps of their forebears. I also dedicate this work to the children of Israel and those of the Palestinians, for it is through these children that peace will be possible in the Middle East and not through battle-hardened, peace-fearing old men whose psyche has been damaged and conditioned to the status quo of Arab-Israeli war inevitability.

The dedication will be incomplete without mentioning the President of Nigeria, for Africa will never amount to anything unless Nigeria is strong militarily, economically and otherwise, as evident in its recent role in the Liberian conflict.

And especially for Papa Mandela, Professor Lynne Nalova Lyonga, and Blaise and Furaha Gnagno.

NOTE: The words "White man" or "Black man" as used in this text refer to the government of White countries and Black countries rather than to the white or black race. Politicians, whether in White, Black, or "colored" countries or anywhere else are generally responsible for the human suffering that now ravages the world.

PREFACE

If only one could put aside, even for a brief moment, one's pride, ego and, most importantly, one's superiority complex, it is possible that we could understand one another better and we could be living in a better world.

Such was our case as graduate students. Our little world was confined to a small research space in the basement of the prestigious Chemistry Department of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Our world was comprised of a Palestinian from Jerusalem, a genuine Jew from Israel, a Japanese from Japan, myself from Cameroon-Africa, and our research supervisor who was a Norwegian American.

We discussed all topics during our "break" periods out of which I was able to learn a lot of things about other people that I did not know before. I learned that the stereotypes usually associated with some people by an impatient and generally judgmental press were nothing but specially and sometimes intentionally tailored information geared at creating hatred for one group while rallying support for another.

Judging by the experience from our group discussions, it is possible that people can live together even if they do not like one another, just as long as they coexist in peace.

One (including myself) could hardly call our small world a microcosm of the world at large. Such a conclusion would be naive just as it is naive to think that South Africa will continue to be under white rule for too long or that the problems of the Middle East could be solved based on a single school of thought. But our world provided a unique atmosphere in which a Jew, a Palestinian, a Black, a Japanese, and a White could discuss freely without fear of death threat, or outside influence.

I am certainly glad that I was part of this group and I wish that other people, especially hawkish unilateral-thinking politicians and those who think they belong to the "blessed" countries, could have the same opportunity.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Dedication.....	i
Preface.....	ii
CHAPTER ONE:INTRODUCTION .....	1
Generalities.....	1
Africa.....	2
The Middle East.....	4
The Lesson of the Iran-Iraq war.....	6
The Formation of a Palistinian State.....	7
Latin America.....	8
The Far East and Indo-China.....	9
CHAPTER TWO:HOLOCAUSTS .....	10
Types of Holocausts.....	12
Racism.....	12
Slavery-TheBlack Holocaust.....	13
Apartheid.....	15
Hitlerism.....	15
Continuous Mass Extermination.....	17
Conclusion.....	19

CHAPTER THREE: MY VISIT TO SRAEL.....22

The Long Awaited Trip to Might Jerusalem.....37

The Day of the Ultimate Nightmare.....45

A Man is most Vulnerable When He Feels His Strongest.49

Stepping In.....50

The Days Ahead.....51

The Soviet Role.....53

Miscalculations:The South African Blunder.....54

The Flight Out of Israel.....55

The Final Heartbreak and Onset of Realities.....71

CHAPTER FOUR: MY DECISION TO GO TO SOUTH AFRICA.....76

My Departure for Training in Cameroon.....79

Another Miscalculation in Central America.....82

Our Last Days of Training and the Flight to the "Great Nigeria".....85

The Days After the President's Speech.....91

American Response: Star Wars Deployment.....97

CHAPTER FIVE: TO SOUTH AFRICA AND BACK:
D-DAY II.....100

Preparation for the Assault.....103

Preliminary Strategy.....	104
Production of the Sperm Gun.....	107
The Peacemaker called "I Love Apartheid" .....	110
Battle in the Air-Tactical Command,Code Named "Operation One Way" .....	112
The First Assault: Free Nelson Mandela.....	114
Days,Then Weeks,Passed By With No End In Sight....	119
Meanwhile in the Middle East.....	121
The Stealth Bomber: TIME-IN-FLIGHT SELF GENERATING NUCLEAR BOMB called the SELF...	122
Continuous pounding of South Africa.....	130
The Final Blow and Freedom for "All" South Africans..	131
The Final Strategy.....	133
A Surprise from the British and Americans;Communism Embraced by Africans-The Last Chip.....	135
The Last Kicks of a Dying Horse and Mopping Up.....	138
Hail to Johannesburg.....	144
Mandela's Speech.....	146
Israel Suffers Another Blow.....	152
My worst moments in South Africa.....	153
A Military Bonanza for Africa.....	155

CHAPTER SIX: A NUCLEAR DISASTER IN GERMANY DRAWS SOVIET RESPONSE .....	157
Code-Decoder Floating Missile.....	160
Nicaraguan Brand of Communist Revolution Sweeps Through Central America and the Caribbean.....	163
America's Final Gasp.....	165
A Third Nuclear Insanity.....	166
CHAPTER SEVEN: MY VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES .....	169
Formation of a Palistinian State;America Regains Global Respect.....	177
Israel Survives by a Whisker.....	180
CHAPTER EIGHT: MY RETURN TO ISRAEL .....	182
CHAPTER NINE: CONCLUSION .....	188
Generalities.....	188
The Superstate.....	189
The United States.....	191
Nigeria, The Other World Power.....	193
South Africa.....	195
The Soviet Union.....	196
Parable of Accurate and Inaccurate Missiles.....	198
China.....	199
And Therefore.....	202

INTRODUCTION

Generalities

The present world climate which will inevitably crystallize into global conflict is becoming more so with increasing literacy in those regions that have most of the world's natural resources. The superpowers are now becoming scared of the possibility of losing their stronghold on these regions.

This has resulted in heavy-handed and unreasonable policies in most of those areas, notably, South Africa and the Middle East.

The South African military was forged out of fear and greed and the Israeli military is the foundation of Israel's survival, but as history has shown, military might is a necessary but not a sufficient parameter for peaceful coexistence or even for settling disputes.

The tunnel vision of the world by Africans has kept them weak and oppressed until now. The proximity of Latin America and Persian countries to the so-called superpowers has generated fear, intimidation and resultant underdevelopment. The ultra wealthy oil wells of the Middle East have taken incentive away from the Arabs. Will world literacy change all these factors? What price is worth paying for reunification, freedom, and a homeland? Is it worth one million lives and near total destruction as in Vietnam; twenty million lives and human suffering as in the Soviet Union under Hitler; or continuous struggle as in the Middle East and South Africa. Or is unity and freedom worthless as in Korea, East Germany and Latin America?

Africa

Africans have been and are still suffering from the fly-behind-glass-window syndrome. This fly has only two ways to get out into the freedom and pleasure it can see clearly:

- (1) it can wait for the master to open the window so that it can fly out, or
- (2) it can break the glass on its own and fly out to freedom.

With wealth-thirsty old men for Heads of State, and illiterate, sometimes poorly disciplined non-patriotic and stoogy military, the fate of Africa seems to be in line with the first option. As a result, Africans have only sniffed the freedom they direly need. However, the possibility that they can one day break the glass window and hence become free accrues with the exponential rise of literacy on the continent.

The thought of loosing control of the resources of Africa becomes a very touchy one to the White man and South Africa has become a litmus test of how Africans will finally get control of what is theirs. America and most of the West have often rationalized their activities on the continent on the basis of the presence of Cuban troops and Soviet influence and, still worse, on the premise that Africans are incapable of handling democracy as if Africans have to adhere to specially set down rules by the White man to gain their freedom. Let us imagine that the East suddenly becomes capitalist or democratized, will Africa be free to control its own resources and be at peace? Of course not, because the desire of the White man, either coming from the East or West, is to get almost free of charge the resources he needs so badly for his own survival. A notorious Soviet leader once said, "Our aim is to gain control of the rich mineral depots of West Africa." He died before he could have his dreams fulfilled, but he indoctrinated his successors to carry on his dream.

Through the puppet Heads of State the White man has succeeded tremendously. Africans have continued to battle and kill one another at the command of the White man, even miserably at the command of the fascist White man in South Africa. Will Africa change when the old men die out and those who have studied in the West and East take over leadership positions; or will they continue to fratricide one another to please the White man without a vision for the next generation? Only time will tell.

The Middle East

If the birth of another superpower sends chills down everybody's spine, then imagine this: Iran expands into Iraq and becomes a superpower and threatens the Soviet Union in its own back door and chokes the United States energy pipeline. This is a scenario that no Westerner, or for that matter, no Easterner can afford to see happen. Were this to occur the Arabs could rule the world and the Chinese could become the only true alternative to any other force. The