Introduction

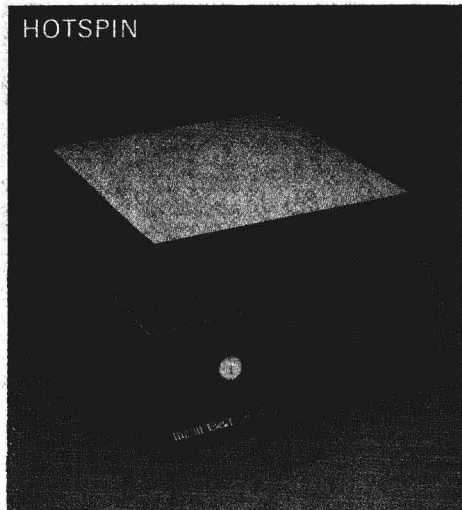

In a period of increasing specialisation and competition the widest knowledge of sources of supply is absolutely essential to the buyer. This is the ninth edition of Laboratory Equipment Directory and it provides a quick and accurate guide to what is available from manufacturers and distributors of laboratory equipment. Many of the editorial entries are supplemented by illustrated advertisements containing additional information. There is also reference to foreign firms represented in the U.K., trade names used, associations relating to the industry and industrial exhibitions.

Although great efforts have been made to maintain the directory's accuracy, it is possible that some changes may have taken place since going to press. We therefore welcome any information on changes or developments, and invite any company not currently listed to supply information for future editions.

Revolutionary Magnetic Stirrers

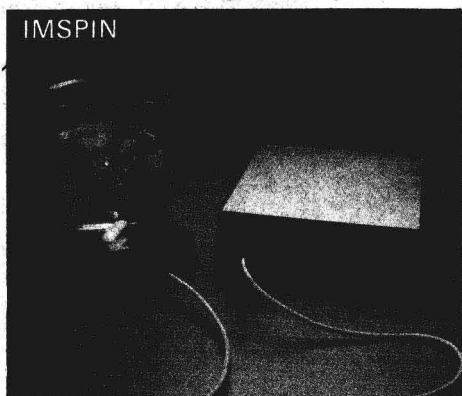

HOTSPIN

FLATSPIN

THE FIRST CHOICE FROM BAIRD & TATLOCK

These three completely revolutionary electronic magnetic stirrers have been especially developed by Baird & Tatlock to cater for the majority of laboratory stirring requirements. The rotating magnetic field means no moving parts – so no lubrication problems. Adjustable speed control means gentle to very fast stirring as well as variable period reversing. Automatic recapture of the follower after disruption plus stable, reproducible speeds, minimum heat generation, low voltage option and low profile are just some of their attractive features.

FLATSPIN

This is the standard bench version offering extremely stable speed control from 60 to 1800 rpm with overall dimensions of 160 x 180 x 55mm high.

IMSPIN

This remotely controlled stirrer element has its operating coils encapsulated in a resin block. This enables the stirrer to be operated under water in baths and tanks as well as inside ovens, incubators, fume cupboards (up to 100°C) and in corrosive areas. As the power to the operating coils is only 12v, this unit is particularly safe in water-immersed situations.

HOTSPIN

A hotplate version is also available with precision electronic temperature control by thermistor bead. This unit incorporates a square cast aluminium hot plate size 140 x 140mm, fitted with a long-life inconel sheathed element giving a maximum temperature of 250°C.
