Acknowledgements

The papers in this book were initially presented at a workshop held at York Law School in May 2011. We are grateful to the British Academy, which generously funded the workshop through its Small Grants scheme and to York Law School for its continuing financial support. We could not have managed the event without the invaluable organisational expertise and assistance of Salwa Eweis and we are also grateful to Simon Halliday, Sir Stephen Laws and Richard Mullender who gave so generously of their time in chairing sessions at the workshop and contributing to discussion there, and to David Ibbetson and John Blackie who presented two very stimulating historical papers on the relationship between statutes and tort law. Thanks are particularly due to all of our contributors for producing such excellent essays and for their overwhelming support for the venture from the start. We would also like to thank Carol Forrest, for her significant contribution to running the workshop and for careful and expert work on the manuscript prior to submission, and Tom Metcalfe who produced the tables of statutes and cases. We have also benefited from the excellent support provided throughout the process by Richard Hart and all of the team at Hart Publishing, in particular Rachel Turner, Mel Hamill and Tom Adams. Finally, we owe a significant debt of gratitude as ever to our families, for patiently putting up with the significant time commitments and working weekends this project entailed.
