

Chemical and Process Thermodynamics

Third Edition

Prentice Hall International Series in the Physical and Chemical Engineering Sciences

Chemical and Process

Thermodynamics

Third Edition

B. G. Kyle

Emeritus Professor of Chemical Engineering Kansas State University

To join a Prentice Hall Internet mailing list, point to: http://www.prenhall.com/mail_lists/

Prentice Hall PTR
Upper Saddle River, New Jersey 07458

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication Data

Kyle, B. G. (Benjamin Gayle)

Chemical and Process Thermodynamics / B. G. Kyle. — 3rd ed.

p. cm. — (Prentice Hall international series in the physical and chemical engineering sciences)

Includes index.

ISBN 0-13-081244-7

1. Thermodynamics. I. Title. II. Series.

QD504.K94 1999

660.2'969-dc20

91-30970

Acquisitions editor: Bernard Goodwin Editorial/production supervisor: Mary Sudul

Cover design director: Jerry Votta Cover design: Anthony Gemmellaro Manufacturing manager: Alan Fischer

© 1999, 1992, 1984 by Prentice Hall PTR

Prentice-Hall, Inc.

A Simon & Schuster Company

Upper Saddle River, New Jersey 07458

Prentice Hall books are widely used by corporations and government agencies for training, marketing, and resale. The publisher offers discounts on this book when ordered in bulk quantities. For more information, contact Corporate Sales Department, Phone: 800-382-3419; FAX: 201-236-7141; Email: corpsales@prenhall.com

Prentice Hall PTR, One Lake Street, Upper Saddle River, NJ 07458.

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced, in any form or by any means, without permission in writing from the publisher.

Printed in the United States of America

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

ISBN 0-13-081244-7

Prentice-Hall International (UK) Limited, London

Prentice-Hall of Australia Pty. Limited, Sydney

Prentice-Hall Canada, Inc., Toronto

Prentice-Hall Hispanoamericana, S.A., Mexico

Prentice-Hall of India Private Limited, New Delhi

Prentice-Hall of Japan, Inc., Tokyo

Simon & Schuster Asia Pte. Ltd., Singapore

Editora Prentice-Hall do Brasil, Ltda., Rio de Janeiro

I his edition represents an attempt to produce a thermodynamics text suitable for the age of the personal computer. Steps toward this goal include providing a variety of computing resources on the companion CD-ROM, rewriting several sections, supplying many worked examples and student problems requiring the use of these resources, and adding Chapter 17 dealing with modeling of thermodynamic systems. The CD-ROM contains (a) spreadsheets and executable programs for specific applications, (b) POLYMATH, a general purpose numerical analysis program, (c) EQUATIONS OF STATE, a graphics program with tutorials illustrating various concepts with three-dimensional PVT plots, and (d) spreadsheet solutions to several worked examples in the text. A complete listing and brief description of these resources can be found in Appendix E.

Chapter 9, Principles of Phase Equilibrium, has been reorganized to include calculation of phase equilibrium via an equation of state as this topic is now an integral part of the thermodynamics of phase equilibrium. This change carries over into Chapter 10, Applied Phase Equilibrium, where the determination of the Peng-Robinson interaction parameter from VLE data parallels the determination of Wilson parameters from VLE data and both processes are viewed from the perspective of information processing. Executable programs are provided for these tasks.

Chapter 11, Additional Topics in Phase Equilibrium, has been augmented by the inclusion of executable programs for the determination the Peng-Robinson interaction parameter from solid-gas equilibrium data and for the calculation of solid-gas equilibrium from the Peng-Robinson equation. There is also an executable program using the UNIFAC method for estimating activity coefficients.

Chapter 13, Complex Chemical Equilibrium, has been rewritten in an attempt to clarify the phase rule as applied to chemically reacting systems and to accommodate the use of POLYMATH for solving the non-linear equations arising from free energy minimization.

Chapter 17, Thermodynamics and Models, presents the philosophy of modeling engineering systems and illustrates this with several realistic examples. Also, the technique of combining the UNIFAC model with the Peng-Robinson model for the prediction of phase equilibria is presented and illustrated with an example.

While there is an increased emphasis on computing, the major objective of this edition, as well as that of the two previous editions, is to expose and explain the rationale of thermodynamics. My philosophical stance toward computing in the curriculum is that it should never be an end in itself but should free students of burdensome and tedious calculations so that they can use this savings in time and attention to focus on fundamentals and be able to tackle larger and more complex problems. I also believe that students should understand what a particular program does and not regard it simply as a magic black box. Accordingly, while I have attempted to make the executable programs user-friendly, they are not written for a passive user but require the student's input and decisions.

The companion CD-ROM also contains auxiliary text: a multichaptered essay on entropy which presents the microscopic view of entropy, examines the connection between entropy and information, and discusses some of the paradoxes associated with entropy.

When applied to a thermodynamics course, the term advanced usually has the connotation of increased breadth or complexity of application and greater depth of understanding rather than a higher level of required mathematical skills. Consistent with this view, the book should also be suitable for a graduate level course. Many of the chapters contain topics that could be omitted in an undergraduate course but included in a graduate course. These topics are placed toward the end of the chapters and are marked with an asterisk in the Contents. It is intended that the omission of these topics not affect the orderly development of topics in subsequent chapters. Actually, few if any of these topics are beyond the reach of an undergraduate, and perhaps it is more appropriate to regard them as optional material, allowing flexibility in course design.

The underlying theme that permits the unification of what otherwise would be disparate topics resides in the following definition. Thermodynamics is an approach to processing, evaluating, and extending experimentally gained information about systems capable of existing in equilibrium states. While acknowledging the inadequacy of this definition, I believe that it has pedagogical value because it suggests that the subject should be presented and viewed from an experimental perspective. Indeed, this is especially true when it is recognized that the application of thermodynamics often involves the use of variables which are inherently abstract and therefore difficult to conceptualize. Students can hardly be expected to understand these applications if they lack the basic understanding of the phenomenon or system under study. This understanding should include how, and with what difficulty, the experimentally measured variables are determined. Equally, one can be comfortable with abstract thermodynamic variables only after their evaluation has been tied to experimentally determined quantities. A distinguishing feature of this book is the development of this experimental perspective.

Preface

In keeping with the experimental perspective, thermodynamic functions are not introduced until the need for them has been established or at least suggested. Hopefully, this allows the functions to be viewed as tools needed to accomplish a specific objective and not simply meaningless, abstract, and arbitrarily defined functions. This approach has led to an unorthodox development of phase equilibrium wherein partial molar properties are not introduced until the fourth of a four-chapter sequence. Thus the treatment of many common topics and a delineation of the rationale for the thermodynamic approach can occur before the student is encumbered with yet another type of function.

S.I. units are used extensively but not exclusively. For some time to come, engineers will find pressure gauges calibrated in psi, thermometers in °F, and physical property data reported in various units. They therefore should be able to work in any system of units. Additionally, in the major applications of thermodynamics—phase equilibrium and chemical equilibrium—S.I. units offer little computational advantage. In fact, because the standard state remains one atmosphere, their use in the treatment of chemical equilibrium can often cause confusion or error. For this reason, fugacities are always expressed in atmospheres in Chapters 12 and 13.

I thank my colleague, Shoyi Jiang, who read parts of the manuscript and made valuable suggestions. I also thank my colleagues Richard G. Akins and Larry A. Glasgow, who rendered invaluable help and advice with the computing phase of the work. I am grateful to Dr. Y. L. Huang for his work in the development phase of the software on the companion CD-ROM. I also thank Professor Michael Cutlip who has been very helpful regarding the use of POLYMATH. Mr. Harvey Wilson provided a special version of his Shareware steam tables, WASP, for inclusion on the CD-ROM, but unfortunately was unable to accept the rather Draconian terms of the publisher's software-use agreement. I am grateful for his efforts and regret that his work could not be included. I am deeply indebted to Professor Kenneth Jolls for the special version of EQUATIONS OF STATE and for his heroic effort in perfecting some rather crude tutorials that I devised. Finally, I especially appreciate the efforts of Nancy Vesta, my copy editor, who skillfully surmounted some rather primitive technology and whose glad grace and good cheer made an otherwise tiresome task bearable.

B. G. Kyle Manhattan, Kansas

Notation

Latin Symbols

	·
A	Area	E	Total energy, extensive
\boldsymbol{A}	Helmholtz free energy, exten-	e	Total energy, intensive sive	E	Work equivalent, extensive
A, B, C	Empirical constants	е	Work equivalent, intensive
\mathbf{A}	Surface Area	$E_{\scriptscriptstyle K}$	Kinetic energy, extensive a, b, c	Empirical constants	$E_{\scriptscriptstyle P}$	Potential energy, extensive
A_{i}	A chemical specie	F	Feed rate
a_{i}	Activity of component i	\mathbf{F}	Force
a_{12}, a_{21}	Parameters in Wilson equation		Generalized force
B	Second virial coefficient		Degrees of freedom
B	Availability, extensive	f	Friction factor
b	Availability, intensive	f	Fugacity
b_{ι}	Number of atomic weights of		Fraction liquefied element l in the system	f_i	Fugacity of component i
C	Number of components	G	Gibbs free energy, extensive
c	Sonic velocity	G	Mass flux
$C_{\scriptscriptstyle P}$	Constant-pressure heat capac-	g	Gibbs free energy, intensive ity, extensive	g	Acceleration of gravity
C_{p}	Constant-pressure heat capac-	$G_{_{12}},G_{_{21}}$	Parameters in Wilson equation
	ity, intensive	ΔG^f	Free energy of formation
C_{v}	Constant-volume heat capac-	H	Enthalpy, extensive ity,	h	Enthalpy, intensive
	extensive	H	Magnetic field strength
$C_{_{v}}$	Constant-volume heat capac-	$\Delta H^{'}$	Heat of formation
	ity,	$\Delta h^{^*}$	Enthalpy of departure
	intensive	$\Delta h_{_{x}}$	Integral heat of solution
\overline{c}_P	Mean heat capacity	I .	Magnetization intensity
D	Diameter	I	Ionic strength

xviii Notation

K_i Equilibrium ratio V Volume, extensive k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, intensive k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, intensive k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, extensive k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, extensive k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, extensive k_i' Henry's law constant based on molality v Velocity k_i' Lethola or the molality v Volad or the mola open system k_i' Latentheat of melting v Total work (work + equivalent work of heat exchanges) in an open system k_i' Latentheat of melting v Total work in a closed system k_i' Latentheat of melting v Total work in a closed system k_i' Latentheat of melting v Electrical work k_i' Any stensive property v Electrical work k_i' Mass v Nath work per unit of flowing fluid v N	K	Equilibrium constant	V	Vapor rate
k_i' Henry's law constant v Volume, intensive k_i' Henry's law constant based on molality w Velocity L Liquid rate w Total work (work + equivalent work of heat exchanges) in an open system L Length w Total work in a closed system M Any extensive property w Electrical work M Any intensive property w Electrical work in a closed system M Any extensive property w Electrical work in a closed system M Any intensive property w Electrical work m Mass w Shaft work m Mass w Shaft work m Mass flow rate w Net, or useful, work m Mass flow rate w Net, or useful, work m Mass flow rate w w Equivalent work of heat m Musher of chemical species X' The t th element N Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component inent i in a mixture x Liquid mol fraction o			V
k _i Henry's law constant based on molality V Velocity L Liquid rate W Work L Length W Total work (work + equivalent work of heat exchanges) in an open system L Length W Total work in a closed system M Any extensive property W _i Electrical work M Any intensive property W _i Shaft work work M Any intensive property W _i Shaft work work M Any intensive property W _i Shaft work work M Mass W _i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid M Mach number W ⁱ Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid M Mach number W ⁱ Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid M Mach number W ⁱ Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid Number of chemical species X _i Solid mol fraction of component in a mixture X _i Solid mol fraction of component in a mixture P Vapor pressure X _i Liquid mol fraction of component in a mixture X _i Vapor mol fraction of component in a mixture </td <td></td> <td></td> <td>v</td> <td>Volume, intensive</td>			v	Volume, intensive
$ \begin{array}{c ccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$			v	Velocity
L Liquid rate W Total work (work + equivalent work of heat exchanges) in an open system L Length work of heat exchanges) in an open system L Latent heat of melting W Total work in a closed system M Any extensive property W Electrical work M Any intensive property W Fluid work M Mass W Shaft work work M Mach number Molality W Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid M Mach number W' Net, or useful, work M Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work of heat M Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work M Mumber of component i W ^E Equivalent work of heat N Number of mols X _i Solid mol fraction of component i N Number of mols X _i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressure x _i Liquid mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture x _i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat f	κ_i	•	W
$ \begin{array}{c ccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	L		W	Total work (work + equivalent
l Displacement or distance open system l Latent heat of melting w Total work in a closed system l Any extensive property w_e Electrical work l Any intensive property w_e Electrical work l Any intensive property w_e Electrical work l Mass w_e Shaft work l Mass flow rate w_e Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid l Mass flow rate w_e Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid l Mass flow rate w_e Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid l Mass flow rate w_e Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid l Mass flow rate w_e Solid mol fraction of component l l Number of chemical species x_e Liquid mol fraction of component l l Number of mols x_e Solid mol fraction of component l l Vapor pressure l Liquid mol fraction of component l l Vapor pressure l Liquid mol fraction of component l l <td></td> <td></td> <td></td> <td></td>
L_m Latent heat of melting W Total work in a closed system M Any extensive property W_i Electrical work m Any intensive property W_i Fluid work m Mass W_i Shaft work work m Molality w_i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m Molality of component i W^i Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X'_i Solid mol fraction of component i n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i n	\overline{l}
m Any extensive property W_{ϵ} Electrical work m Any intensive property W_{ϵ} Fluid work m Mass W_{ϵ} Shaft work m Molality W_{ϵ} Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m Molality of component i W^{ϵ} Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X'_{ϵ} Solid mol fraction of component i n Number of mols X_{ϵ} Solid mol fraction of component i p Pressure x_{ϵ} Liquid mol fraction of component i p Partial pressure of component i i in a mixture y_{ϵ} Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flow n x_{ϵ} x_{ϵ} Q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Elevation q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Elevation R Gas law constant z Elevation R Number of independent chemical reactions z Elevation of compound i in feed stream R Number of stoichiometric constraints z z S Entropy, extensive z z z S Entropy, extensive z z z S Entropy departure z z z S Entropy departure z z z S Entropy departure z z z z S Entropy depart			w m Any intensive property W_i Fluid work m Mass W_i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Molality w_i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m Molality of component i W^e Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X'_i The I th element N Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressure n Liquid mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i z Elevation P Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Elevation R Gas law constant z Elevation R Number of independent chemical reactions z Elevation of component i R Reaction matrix z z Elevation of component i R Reaction matrix z z Extent of reaction R Reaction matrix z z Extent of reaction S Entropy, extensive z z <		,	W_{-} m Mass W_i Shaft work m Molality w_i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m Molality of component i W' Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X' The l th element n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressure l Liquid mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flow l l l Q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid l l l R Gas law constant l l l l R Number of independent chemical reactions l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l l l l l l l R Reaction matrix l l </td <td></td> <td></td> <td></td> <td>Fluid work</td>				Fluid work
m Molality w_i Shaft work per unit of flowing fluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m_i Molality of component i W'' Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X'_i The l th element N Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i p Pressure n Liquid mol fraction of component i p Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flow n y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Elevation q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Electrical charge fluid R Gas law constant chemical reactions z Electrical charge fluid R Number of independent chemical reactions z z R Reaction matrix z z r Generalized displacement z z z z Symbols z				Shaft work
MMach numberfluid m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m_i Molality of component i W^E Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X' The l th element n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i p Pressure x_i Liquid mol fraction of component i p Partial pressure of component i i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i p Partial pressure of component i p Vapor mol fraction of component i p Partial pressure of component i p p p Partial pressure of the medium i p p p <				Shaft work per unit of flowing m Mass flow rate W' Net, or useful, work m_i Molality of component i $W^{\mathcal{E}}$ Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X' The l th element n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressure i Liquid mol fraction of component i P Vapor pressure i Liquid mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i i Vapor mol fraction of component i i i i i i i P Partial pressure of component i i i i i i P Partial pressure of component i i i i i i i P Partial pressure of component i <td></td> <td></td> <td>Z.</td> <td>-</td>			Z.	-
m_i Molality of component i W^E Equivalent work of heat N Number of chemical species X' The l th element n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressurenent i P° Vapor pressure of component i in a mixture x_i Liquid mol fraction of component i P° Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flow p_i Vapor mol fraction of component i P° Partial pressure of component i in a mixture p_i p_i Q Heat flow p_i p_i Q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid p_i p_i P Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid p_i p_i P Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid p_i p_i P Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid p_i p_i P Mol fraction of component i p_i P Mol fraction of component i p_i P Mol fraction of component i p_i P Melting temperature p_i p_i P Melting temperature p_i p_i P Entropy departure p_i p_i P Activity coefficient of component i p_i </td <td></td> <td>Mass flow rate</td> <td>W'</td> <td>Net, or useful, work</td>		Mass flow rate	W'	Net, or useful, work
NNumber of chemical species X' The l th element n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P Pressure I Liquid mol fraction of component i P Vapor pressure I Liquid mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I Vapor mol fraction of component i P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I I P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I I P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I I P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I I P Partial pressure of component i in a mixture I I P Partial pressure of component i I I I P Partial pressure of component i I I I P Partial pressure of component i I I I I P Partial pressure of component I I I I I I I P Partial pressure of component I <	m.	Molality of component i	$W^{\!\scriptscriptstyle E}$
n Number of mols X_i Solid mol fraction of component i P° Vapor pressure x_i Liquid mol fraction of component i p_i Partial pressure of component i in a mixture x_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flownent i Q Thermodynamic function for a mixture Z Compressibility factor q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid Z Elevation R Gas law constant Z Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream R Number of independent chemical reactions Z Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream R Number of stoichiometric constraints Z <td>1.00</td> <td></td> <td></td> <td></td>	1.00
P Pressurenent i P° Vapor pressure x_i Liquid mol fraction of component i in a mixture p_i Partial pressure of component i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flownent i Q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Elevation R Gas law constant z Electrical charge z R Number of independent chemical reactions z Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream R Number of independent chemical reactions z z x_i x_i x_i z x_i x_i z x_i x_i z z x_i x_i z z x_i z z z x_i z z z x_i z <td>n</td> <td>-</td> <td>X_{i}</td> <td>Solid mol fraction of compo-</td>	n	-	X_{i}	Solid mol fraction of compo-
$\begin{array}{cccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	P	Pressure
$\begin{array}{cccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$	P°	Vapor pressure	X_i	Liquid mol fraction of compo-
i in a mixture y_i Vapor mol fraction of component i Q Heat flownent i \mathbf{Q} Thermodynamic function for a mixture Z Compressibility factor q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid Z Electrical charge fluid R Gas law constant Z Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream R Number of independent chemical reactions Z Z Z Number of independent chemical reactions Z <t< td=""><td>p_{i}</td><td></td><td></td><td></td></t<>	p_{i}
Thermodynamic function for a mixture z Elevation z Elevation z Elevation z Electrical charge fluid z Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream z Reaction matrix z Electrical charge z Mol fraction of compound z in feed stream z Reaction matrix z Relative volatility z Extent of reaction z Extent of reaction z Extent of reaction z Extent of reaction z Entropy, extensive z Entropy, extensive z Entropy, intensive z Entropy departure z Absolute temperature z Empirical temperature z Empirical temperature z Empirical temperature z Empirical temperature z Entropy departure z Empirical temperature z Entropy departure z Empirical temperature z Entropy departure z Empirical temperature z Entropy departure z Entropy		# · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	y_i	Vapor mol fraction of compomixture q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid R Gas law constant R Number of independent chemical reactions R Reaction matrix r Generalized displacement S Number of stoichiometric constraints S Entropy, extensive S Entropy, intensive S Entropy departure S Entropy departure S Absolute temperature S Melting temperature S Temperature of the medium S U Internal energy, extensive S Elevation S Electrical charge S Mol fraction of compound i in S Electrical charge S Mol fraction of compound i in S Extent of reaction S Formula coefficient matrix S Specie formula coefficient S Heat capacity ratio S Activity coefficient of component i S Colubility parameter S Solubility parameter S Efficiency, general, but always S based on second law	Q	Heat flow		nent i
q Heat flow per unit of flowing fluid z Electrical charge Mol fraction of compound i in feed stream R Gas law constant R Gas law constant Number of independent chemical reactionsGreek Symbols R Reaction matrix r α Relative volatility α S Number of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrix S Entropy, extensive s β Specie formula coefficient S Entropy, intensive S γ Heat capacity ratio γ Δs^* Entropy departure t γ Activity coefficient of component i t Absolute temperature t τ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution t Empirical temperature t τ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution t Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter t Temperature of the medium t t Efficiency, general, but always based on second law	Q	Thermodynamic function for a	Z	Compressibility factor
$ \begin{array}{c ccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc$		mixture	Z	Elevation
RGas law constantfeed streamRNumber of independent chemical reactionsGreek SymbolsRReaction matrix α Relative volatilityrGeneralized displacement Sumber of stoichiometric constraints α Extent of reactionSNumber of stoichiometric constraints β_{ij} Specie formula coefficient matrixSEntropy, extensive γ Heat capacity ratioSEntropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i TAbsolute temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i tEmpirical temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TTActivity coefficient of component i <th< td=""><td>q</td><td>Heat flow per unit of flowing</td><td>Z</td><td>Electrical charge</td></th<>	q	Heat flow per unit of flowing	Z	Electrical charge
RNumber of independent chemical reactionsGreek SymbolsRReaction matrix α Relative volatilityrGeneralized displacement S α Extent of reactionSNumber of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrixSEntropy, extensive s γ Heat capacity ratioSEntropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i TAbsolute temperature t γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i TMelting temperature γ Activity parameterTTemperature of the medium γ Efficiency, general, but alwaysUInternal energy, extensive γ Efficiency, general, but always		fluid	Z_i	Mol fraction of compound i in
RReaction matrix α Relative volatilityrGeneralized displacement α Extent of reactionSNumber of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrixSEntropy, extensive γ Heat capacity ratiosEntropy, intensive γ Activity coefficient of component i Δs^* Entropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i TAbsolute temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution t Empirical temperature δ Solubility parameter T_o Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always U Internal energy, extensivebased on second law	R	Gas law constant		feed stream
RReaction matrix α Relative volatilityrGeneralized displacement α Extent of reactionSNumber of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrixSEntropy, extensive γ Heat capacity ratiosEntropy, intensive γ Activity coefficient of component i Δs^* Entropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i TAbsolute temperature γ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solutionTMelting temperature δ Solubility parameterTTemperature of the medium δ Solubility parameterTTemperature of the medium δ Efficiency, general, but alwaysUInternal energy, extensivebased on second law	R	Number of independent	Cl-	Ch -l-
r Generalized displacement α Extent of reaction S Number of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrix S Entropy, extensive γ Heat capacity ratio S Entropy, intensive γ Activity coefficient of component i As* Entropy departure Γ Activity coefficient of component i T Absolute temperature Γ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution T Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter T Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always U Internal energy, extensive hased on second law		chemical reactions	Greek	Symbols
S Generalized displacement $α$ Extent of reaction S Number of stoichiometric constraints $β$ Formula coefficient matrix S Entropy, extensive $γ$ Heat capacity ratio S Entropy, intensive $γ$ Activity coefficient of component i S Entropy departure $Γ$ Activity coefficient of component i T Absolute temperature $Γ$ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution T Melting temperature $δ$ Solubility parameter T Temperature of the medium $δ$ Solubility parameter T Efficiency, general, but always T <td>R</td> <td>Reaction matrix</td> <td>α</td> <td>Relative volatility</td>	R	Reaction matrix	α	Relative volatility
SNumber of stoichiometric constraints β Formula coefficient matrixSEntropy, extensive γ Specie formula coefficientsEntropy, intensive γ Heat capacity ratio Δs^* Entropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i TAbsolute temperature Γ_i Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution T_m Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter T_0 Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always U Internal energy, extensivebased on second law	r	Generalized displacement
S Entropy, extensive β_{ij} Specie formula coefficient S Entropy, intensive γ Heat capacity ratio Δs^* Entropy departure γ Activity coefficient of component i T Absolute temperature Γ_i Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution t Empirical temperature τ_i Solubility parameter T_m Melting temperature of the medium τ_i Solubility parameter T_0 Temperature of the medium τ_i Efficiency, general, but always t UInternal energy, extensivebased on second law	S	Number of stoichiometric con-
Entropy, extensive γ Heat capacity ratio γ Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution T_m Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter T_0 Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always U Internal energy, extensive		straints	· ·
Sentropy, intensive γ_i Activity coefficient of component i The Absolute temperature i Activity coefficient of component i The Empirical temperature i Activity coefficient of component i in a solid solution i and	S			=
To Absolute temperature T_{m} Absolute temperature T_{m} Melting temperature T_{0} Temperature of the medium T_{0} Internal energy, extensive T_{0} Entropy departure T_{0} and T_{0} Representation T_{0} Solubility parameter T_{0} Efficiency, general, but always T_{0} based on second law	S
T Absolute temperature t Empirical temperature t Empirical temperature t Melting temperature t Melting temperature t Solubility parameter t Efficiency, general, but always t U Internal energy, extensive t based on second law	Δs^*		Ti .
T_m Melting temperature δ nent i in a solid solution T_m Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter T_0 Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always hased on second law	T		Γ
T_m Melting temperature δ Solubility parameter T_0 Temperature of the medium η Efficiency, general, but always hased on second law			* F
U Internal energy, extensive η Efficiency, general, but always based on second law			δ
U Internal energy, extensive based on second law
u Internal energy, intensive	U		.1.
	и	Internal energy, intensive		10 marchaelt - 200 2120, 2 march 277 M

Notation

θ	Tentative absolute temperature
θ	Ideal-gas temperature
θ	Freezing point depression
λ	Lagrangian multiplier
μ_{i}	Chemical potential of component i
V_{i}	Stoichiometric coefficient
π	Number of phases
π	Lagrangian multiplier
ρ	Density
ρ	Rank of formula coefficient ma-
•	trix
ρ	Lagrangian multiplier
σ	Created entropy
σ	Surface tension
ϕ_{i}	Fugacity coefficient of component i
$oldsymbol{arphi}_i$	Volume fraction
ω	Acentric factor

Operators

Denotes a virtual variation
Finite change in a state property
Infinitesimal change or total differential operator
Partial differential operator
Integral operator
Integral operator for closed path
Natural logarithm operator (base e)
Common logarithm operator (base 10)
Cumulative product operator
Cumulative summation operator

Special Notation

^ (as in \hat{f}_i)		propert
	component in a mixture
$\overline{}$ (as in \overline{H}_i)	Denotes	partial	molar
(40 111 1-1)	property

Subscripts

Denotes system states or species in a mixture
Critical property
Constant pressure
Reduced property
Saturated phase
Constant volume
Reference state, initial state or dead state
Denotes system states or
species in a mixture
Denotes a mean ion property

Superscripts

e	With operator Δ denotes excess property change
	upon mixing
i	With operator∆ denotes property change on forming an ideal solution
L , S , V , α , β	Phase identification
,	The prime designates the ideal-gas state or a liquid phase
"	The double prime designates a liquid phase
0	Standard state. With operator Δ denotes a standard property change
* or □	Hypothetical pure component state extrapolated from infinite dilution behavior

CONTENTS

Preface		xiii
Notation		xvii
1 Introdu	ction	1
1-	I The Anatomy of Thermodynamics	1
1-		4
1-	3 The Variables and Quantities of Thermodynamics	5
1-	4 Equilibrium and the Equilibrium State	11
1-	5 The Phase Rule	12
1-	6 The Reversible Process	13
2 The Fir	st Law of Thermodynamics	15
2-	1 The First Law and Internal Energy	15
2-	2 The Enthalpy	21
2-	3 The Heat Capacity	25
2-	4 The First Law for Open Systems	26
P_{i}	roblems	35
3 The Bel	havior of Fluids	41
3-	I The PVT Behavior of Fluids	42
3-	2 Equations of State	44
3-	3 The Ideal Gas	48
3-	4 The Compressibility Factor	55
3-	5 Generalized Equations of State	56
P	rohlems	64

viii		Contents
4 The Se	econd Law of Thermodynamics	69
_	1-1 Heat Engines and the Carnot Cycle	70
	1-2 The Ideal-Gas Carnot Cycle	7.
	1-3 The Absolute Temperature Scale	74
	1-4 The Entropy Function	70
	1-5 Entropy and the Spontaneity of Natural Processes	78
	1-6 Calculation of Entropy Changes	79
	1-7 Open Systems	87
	1-8 Applications of the Second Law	88
	1-9 The Microscopic View of Entropy	93
	4-10 The Third Law of Thermodynamics	97
	Problems	98
5 The T	hermodynamic Network	103
,	5-1 The Free Energy Functions	104
	5-2 The Clausius Inequality and the Fundamental Equation	104
	5-3 The Thermodynamic Network	100
	5-4 Measurable Quantities	108
	5-5 Calculation of H and S as Functions of P and T	109
	5-6 Property Estimation from Corresponding States	114
	5-7 Property Estimation Via Generalized Equations of State	118
	5-8* The Method of Jacobians	124
	5-9* The Generality of the Thermodynamic Method	132
	Problems	138
6 Heat F	Effects	141
(6-1 The Computational Path	142
	6-2 Heat Effects Due to Change of Temperature	14.
(6-3 Heat Effects Due to Change of Pressure	140
(6-4 Heat Effects Due to Change of Phase	140
(6-5 Mixing Heat Effects	143
(6-6 Enthalpy-Concentration Diagrams	15.
(6-7 Chemical Heat Effects	158
(6-8 Heats of Formation in Solution	16.
(6-9 Applied Thermochemistry	166
Ì	Problems	18.
7 Fauili	brium and Stability	189
Lquin	orium una Submity	103

Contents		ix
7-1	Criteria of Equilibrium	190
7-2	months and the second of the s	192
7-3	Application of the Equilibrium Criteria	195
	The Essence of Thermodynamics	198
7-5	* Stability	200
7-6	* Constraints, Equilibrium, and Virtual Variations	206
Pro	blems	207
8 Thermod	ynamics of Pure Substances	209
8-1	The Phase Diagram	209
8-2	The Clapeyron Equation	212
8-3	 3 C T  1  1  1  1  1  1  1	215
8-4	and removed the region of the property of the	217
	Presentation of Thermodynamic Property Data	218
Pro	blems	225
9 Principle	s of Phase Equilibrium	231
9-1	and the second s	232
9-2	3 1	236
9-3	3	238
9-4		239
9-5	and the state of t	241
	Determination of Fugacities in Mixtures	250
9-7		253
9-8	55	262
9-9		266
	0 Henry's Law	270
	1 Activity Coefficient Equations	271
	2 Phase Equilibrium Via an Equation of State	282
	3 The Thermodynamic Approach to Phase Equilibrium	291
Pro	blems	294
10 Applied	Phase Equilibrium	301
10-	and the state of t
	Vapor-Liquid Equilibrium	305
10-		311
	3 Total Pressure Data	317
	4 Azeotropes	319
10-	5 Thermodynamic Consistency Tests	324

x	Contents
74

	10-6 Multicomponent Vapor-Liquid Equilibrium	329
	10-7 Phase Behavior in Partially Miscible Systems	332
	10-8 Liquid-Liquid Equilibrium	338
	10-9* Ternary Liquid-Liquid Equilibrium	342
10-8 Liquid-Liquid Equilibrium 10-9* Ternary Liquid-Liquid Equilibrium 10-10 Estimates from Fragmentary Data 10-11 Recapitulation Problems 11 Additional Topics in Phase Equilibrium 11-1 Partial Molar Properties 11-2 Experimental Determination of Mixture and Partial Molar Properties 11-3 Mixture Properties for Ideal Solutions 11-4* Activity Coefficients Based on Henry's Law 11-5* The Solubility of Gases in Liquids 11-6* Solid-Liquid Equilibria 11-7* Solid-Supercritical Fluid Equilibrium 11-8* Prediction of Solution Behavior Problems 12 Chemical Equilibrium 12-1 Generalized Stoichiometry 12-2 The Condition of Equilibrium for a Chemical Reaction 12-3 Standard States and ΔG° 12-4 Temperature Dependence of the Equilibrium Constant 12-5 Experimental Determination of Thermochemical Data 12-6 Other Free Energy Functions 12-7 Homogeneous Gas-Phase Reactions 12-8 Heterogeneous Chemical Equilibrium 12-9 Reactions in Solution 12-10*Reactions in Aqueous Solution 12-11*Electrolyte Solutions 12-12*Coupled Reactions Problems 13-1 The Phase Rule for Reacting Systems 13-2* Analyzing Complex Chemical Equilibrium Problems 13-3* Formulating Complex Chemical Equilibrium Problems	344
	351
	Problems	354
11 Add	litional Topics in Phase Equilibrium	367
	11-1 Partial Molar Properties	367
	•	370
		376
		378
	11-5* The Solubility of Gases in Liquids	382
		386
	11-7* Solid-Supercritical Fluid Equilibrium	402
	11-8* Prediction of Solution Behavior	404
	Problems	412
12 Che	mical Equilibrium	425
	12-1 Generalized Stoichiometry	427
	12-2 The Condition of Equilibrium for a Chemical Reaction	429
	12-3 Standard States and ΔG°	432
	12-4 Temperature Dependence of the Equilibrium Constant	436
	12-5 Experimental Determination of Thermochemical Data	438
	12-6 Other Free Energy Functions	446
		448
	12-8 Heterogeneous Chemical Equilibrium	454
	12-9 Reactions in Solution	460
	12-10*Reactions in Aqueous Solution	470
		478
		497
	Problems	503
13 Con	nplex Chemical Equilibrium	521
	13-1 The Phase Rule for Reacting Systems	522
		540
		549
	13-4* The CHO System and Carbon Deposition Boundaries	563

Contents
12.4	5* The Si-Cl-H System and Silicon Deposition Boundaries	571
	blems	573
14 Thermo	dynamic Analysis of Processes	581
14-1	Work and Free Energy Functions	581
	? The Availability	583
	Mixing and Separation Processes	592
	4* Heat Exchange	599
14-5	Systems Involving Chemical Transformations	606
Pro	blems	624
15 Physicon	mechanical Processes	631
15-1	Compression and Expansion of Gases	632
	? The Joule-Thomson Expansion	635
15-3	B Liquefaction of Gases	637
15-4	4 Refrigeration	646
15-5	Heat Pumps	653
15-6	6 Power Generation	654
15-7	Cogeneration of Steam and Power	659
Pro	blems	663
16 Compre	ssible Fluid Flow	669
16-1	The Basic Equations of Fluid Mechanics	670
16-2	2 Sonic Velocity	673
16-3	3 Isentropic Flow	675
16-4	Isentropic Flow Through Nozzles	677
	Nonisentropic Flow	681
Prol	blems	685
17 Thermo	dynamics and Models	689
17-1	* Standard Models	690
17-2	* Ad Hoc Models	695
17-3	* Evaluation of Models	711
Prol	blems	713
Appendixes		721

cii	Contents
XII	Contents

Table A-1	Critical Constants of Selected Substances	720
Figure A-1	Equilibrium Constants for Selected Reactions	721
Table B-1	Molar Heat Capacities of Gases at Zero Pressure	723
Table C-1	Thermodynamic Properties of Saturated Steam	725
Table C-2	Thermodynamic Properties of Superheated Steam	728
	Organic Compounds	733
Table D-2	Enthalpies and Free Energies of Formation of Selected
	Inorganic Compounds	735
Table D-3	Free Energies of Formation of Selected Ions in the Aqueous State	737
Appendix E	Inventory of Computing Resources	738
Appendix F	Properties of Determinants	743
Index		745

CHAPTER

Introduction

1-1 THE ANATOMY OF THERMODYNAMICS

Before committing a great deal of time and effort to the study of a subject, it is reasonable to ask the following two questions: What is it? What is it good for? Regarding thermodynamics, the second question is more easily answered, but an answer to the first is essential to an understanding of the subject. Although it is doubtful that many experts or scholars would agree on a simple and precise definition of thermodynamics, necessity demands that a definition be attempted. However, this is best accomplished after the applications of thermodynamics have been discussed.

Applications of Thermodynamics. There are two major applications of thermodynamics, both of which are important to chemical engineers:

- The calculation of heat and work effects associated with processes, as well as the calculation of the maximum work obtainable from a process or the minimum work required to drive a process
- 2. The establishment of relationships among the variables describing systems at equilibrium

The first application is suggested by the name thermodynamics, which implies heat in motion. Most of these calculations can be made by the direct implementation of the first and second laws. Examples are calculating the work of compressing a gas, performing an energy balance on an entire process or a process unit, determining the minimum work of separating a mixture of ethanol and water, or evaluating the efficiency of an ammonia synthesis plant.

The application of thermodynamics to a particular system results in the definition of useful properties and the establishment of a network of relationships among the properties and other variables such as pressure, temperature, volume, and mol fraction. Actually, application 1 would not be possible unless a means existed for evaluating the necessary thermodynamic property changes required in implementing the first and second laws. These property changes are calculated from experimentally determined data via the established network of relationships. Additionally, the network of relationships among the variables of a system allows the calculation of values of variables that are either unknown or difficult to determine experimentally from variables that are either available or easier to measure. For example, the heat of vaporizing a liquid can be calculated from measurements of the vapor pressure at several temperatures and the densities of the liquid and vapor phases, the heat of mixing two liquids can be determined by measuring the equilibrium pressure and compositions of coexisting liquid and vapor phases at several temperatures, and the maximum conversion obtainable in a chemical reaction at any temperature can be calculated from calorimetric measurements performed on the individual substances participating in the reaction.

The Nature of Thermodynamics. The laws of thermodynamics have an empirical or experimental basis, and in the delineation of its applications the reliance upon experimental measurement stands out. Thus, thermodynamics might be broadly defined as a means of extending our experimentally gained knowledge of a system or as a framework for viewing and correlating the behavior of the system. To understand thermodynamics, it is essential to keep an experimental perspective, for if we do not have a physical appreciation for the system or phenomenon studied, the methods of thermodynamics will have little meaning. We should always ask the following questions: How is this particular variable measured? How, and from what type of data, is a particular property calculated?

Often it is easy to miss the intimate experimental dependence of thermodynamics if we are concerned only with the direct applications of the first and second laws. Here the required thermodynamic property changes are usually obtained from a convenient tabulation (e.g., steam tables), or we calculate property changes for a simple substance such as an ideal, monatomic gas with $c_p = 5/2R$. In any event we seldom question the origin of our data and thereby remove thermodynamics from its experimental context, rendering it a lifeless and meaningless set of equations.