Custom Stock: The Direct Stock Advantage—

Direct Stock is a different kind of stock catalog—different because we are not a stock photo agency. The images you see here are available direct from photographers.

Each photographer's name and phone number is beneath every image. That phone number connects you straight to the source, and that gives you advantages:

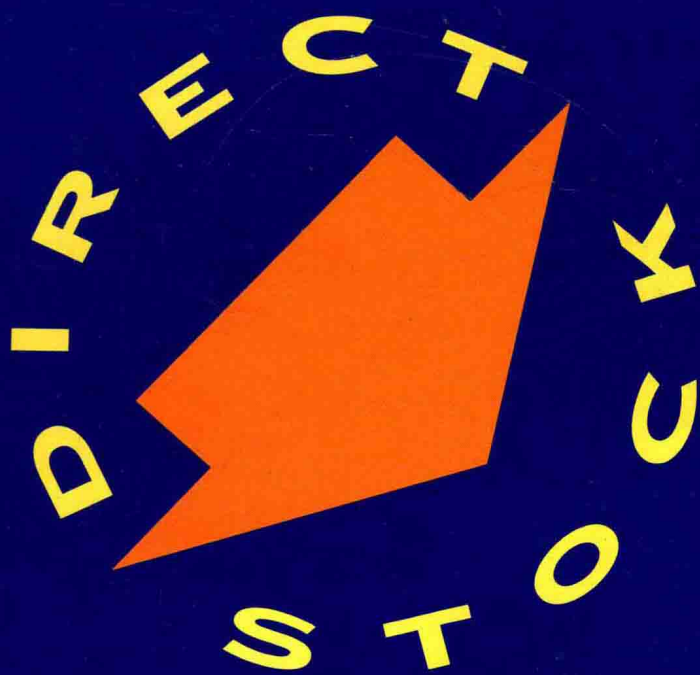

—When the image you need is slightly different from the one that caught your eye, you have direct access to the person who created it, who has ample variations on the same theme.

—Think of Direct Stock as your Custom Stock Photography Sourcebook. If the photograph you want doesn't appear exactly as you'd like it here, ask the photographer to create it for you. They know the location, model, props, lighting, etc., so odds are you're already half-way there.

Direct Stock puts you in direct contact with experienced top stock professionals and their newest, freshest, most select work—work that has not been sitting in an agency's files.

Access, variety, freshness and unlimited variations. That's the Direct Stock advantage. Think of Direct Stock when you think of getting right to the heart of the matter—use Direct Stock because the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.
