Preface

This publication is the sixth in a series of annual compilations of basic international statistics issued under the title Statistical Pocketbook. The compilation was undertaken in response to General Assembly resolution 2626 (XXV), in which the Secretary-General was requested, inter alia, to supply adequate basic national data that would increase international public awareness of countries' development efforts. It is therefore hoped that the Pocketbook will serve as an appropriate vehicle for disseminating, in compact form, important basic facts relating to various countries.

The data shown herein were selected from the wealth of international statistical information compiled regularly by the Statistical Office of the United Nations, the statistical services of the specialized agencies and other international organizations. Part of the Pocketbook shows important and frequently consulted statistical indicators for 156 countries. Another part contains demographic, economic and social statistics for the world as a whole and selected regions of the world.

This issue of the Pocketbook generally covers the years 1970, 1975 and 1980 (or, in some cases, 1979) for the countries, for the world and the regions. The statistics included for each year are those most recently compiled and published by the United Nations and the specialized agencies. The aim is to present, over the period covered, time series that are as nearly comparable internationally as the available statistics permit.

Readers wishing to have more detailed statistics and descriptions are referred to the other, more specialized publications listed on page iv.

It is hoped that the public in general and students in particular will find this attempt at a wider dissemination of basic statistics on countries informative, useful and rewarding.

Introduction

Although considerable progress has been made towards standardization of definitions, those employed at the national level in the collection of data often differ significantly from country to country. In this Pocketbook no attempt is made to indicate where deviations occur from the standard definitions. Short descriptions of the standard definitions for selected items are provided in the "General Notes". Additional information can also be found in the 1977 Supplement to the Statistical Yearbook and the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics, published by the United Nations. Various regional groupings of countries are used in one part of the Pocketbook and brief notes on the groupings are also provided in the "General Notes".
