本书具有八大特点：

一、适合面广，不受版本限制。

本书所选阅读材料，涉及社会生活的方方面面，仅题材本身就具有无限的吸引力。但这些阅读材料绝不是教材的无效重复，而是与各年级学生的认知能力相适应的补充读物。阅读这些材料，不仅能有效地巩固学生现有的知识，而且能拓宽学生的知识面，开扩学生的眼界。同时，本书不受版本的限制，适合于使用各类不同版本的学生阅读。

二、可塑性大，不与教材同步。

本书意在通过大量阅读，潜移默化地渗透、积累，达到随心所欲地运用英语的境界。因此，本书摒弃了以往各类阅读材料必须与教材同步的惯例，采用了非同步材料。对材料中可能出现的难点，本书在“阅读理解”篇目后面设置了“小词典”栏目，解释一些生词和短语的含义；同时配置了“难句解读”栏目，帮助学生理解难句并提供难句的译文。任何学生，无论其原来的功底如何，阅读本书之后，都有不同程度的提高。

三、计划性强，按日按周推进。

本书按每学期的周时设计，按周一至周五的顺序编写，其中，每天两篇“阅读理解”和一篇“完形填空”。每日三篇的阅读量大，不多不少，足以让学生们过一把阅读瘾。每周设有“周末休闲”栏目，下设“轻松一得”、“快乐驿站”和“美文赏析”三个子栏目，让学生们在轻松中有所得，在笑声中有所悟，在美文中有感。

四、限时训练，提高阅读速度。

本书中的所有篇目，均根据字数限定了阅读时间。这样做的目的是为了训练学生的阅读速度，以便他们能多快好省地捕捉文章的信息，及时有效地完成文后的题目。

五、梯级设计,篇目从易到难。

本书中所选篇目在内容上不与教材对应,但在难度上基本上与不同年级的学生的认知水平相符,并且按从易到难的顺序排列。

六、题型多样,对接各类考题。

根据历年来各地中考和高考的常见题型,如:词义理解题、句意理解题、概括归纳题、细节反馈题、推理判断题、综合推理题、观点态度题、人物评价题、辨别正误题、内容排序题、计算推理题、任务型阅读等,每篇后面设置几个题目,分类别、多角度地挖掘文章资源。

七、技术指导,传授点金之术。

本书的“周末休闲”之“轻松一得”栏目中有不少的篇目是关于学习秘诀和解题技巧的。阅读这些篇目,能打开你的智慧之门,令你茅塞顿开,恍然大悟。

八、答案解析,名师与你同行。

本书后面附有全部答案及详细解析,便于学生进行自查自评。由于本书的作者均是教学一线的经验丰富的名师,他们对学生在答题中存在的知识性和技术性缺陷了如指掌,因此,他们对答案的解析更具有针对性和实用性。学生们在遇到难题时,看一下答案解析,就仿佛名师在你身旁为你指点迷津。

In the past, there was a great king. He loved his people. One morning, he saw a beautiful girl coming out of his palace. He asked, "Lady, who are you? Where are you going at this hour?"

She replied, "I am the goddess of Wealth. I don't stay at one place for long. Now I am leaving."

"Is that so? If you are not happy here, you may go," said the king. After some time he saw another girl leaving his palace. "Where are you going?" asked the king. She said, "I am the goddess of Virtue (美德). I will follow the goddess of Wealth."

"As you wish, you may go," said the king. After a while, he saw yet another lady ready to leave. The king asked, "Who are you and where are you going?"

She replied, "I am the goddess of Truth. I stay where my sisters are. I am leaving as all my sisters have left." Hearing this, the king became very sad. He immediately fell at her feet and said, "I did not worry where the other two went, but I cannot exist without truth. Please stay here."

Most people in Europe visit the Alps (阿尔卑斯山脉) in France, Austria, Italy or Switzerland in winter on their skiing holidays. I visited the Alps in mid summer. Obergurgl, 1,930 meters high, lies in Ötztal in the Austrian Alps. No village in Austria lies at a higher altitude than this one. There are many mountains of 3,000 meters and higher in this area, including the Wildspitze, Austria's highest mountain, which rises to 3,772 meters.

The first goal of my hike was to reach the Breslauer Hütte, at an altitude of 2,840 meters. This was the starting point for hikers that go to climb the Wildspitze. I didn't climb the Wildspitze—although it was not a technically difficult mountain, I couldn't climb it without a mountain guide. Besides, the weather decided whether or not we could go on a particular hike.

I did go on another fantastic hike in the Vent area, however. From the Breslauer Hütte, I went on to the Vernagthütte, 2,766 meters high and a few more hours away from the Breslauer Hütte. This is a relatively easy hike, and the sights are magnificent (壮丽的)! Most of all, you are above the tree level here. There is nothing but rocks, ice and snow; this is my favorite part of the mountains. On the way back to the village of Vent, one came down gradually, and sheep were a common sight on the lower green meadows (草地).

When I got back to the village of Vent, it was absolutely wonderful to drink a beer or a glass of buttermilk...

- () 1. From the passage we can learn that Obergurgl is _____.
- A. a village in Austria
 B. not very high

- C. the highest mountain in Austria
D. the first goal on the author's hike
- () 2. What can we learn from the passage?
A. The author continued his hike from the Wildspitze.
B. The author visited the Alps in winter for skiing.
C. There is ice and snow in Vernagthütte in summer.
D. The author liked the village of Vent best of all.
- () 3. Which of the following is the RIGHT order of the author's hiking route?
A. Obergurgl→Wildspitze→Breslauer Hütte→Vernagthütte→the village of Vent
B. Obergurgl→Wildspitze→Vernagthütte→Breslauer Hütte→the village of Vent
C. Obergurgl→Breslauer Hütte→the village of Vent→ Vernagthütte

Letter to Editor of TV Weekly

Dear Sir/Madam,

I read Alison Burnham's review of When we were 12, and I do not agree with her. I thought the program was wonderful—I found the old news pictures really interesting—they helped to bring to life the stories the people were telling.

The program reminds me of many things from my own childhood. For example, one day when I was about five, I was going to school on the bus by myself (this was the late 1960s). My mother had given me exactly the right money for a return ticket. I held out my hand with the money in it—one big coin on top of one little coin. The bus conductor took the big top coin only and she gave me a ticket, but it was a pink one for a single journey. I needed a white one for a return journey, but I was too frightened to say anything. When school finished for the day, I couldn't catch the bus home—I had to walk. As a grown-up, whenever I've been in a situation where I need to say something or take some action, this early memory of my bus ride comes back to me, and I'm able to take control of the situation.

I would like to say to the director, Bret Chrysler, carry on making this kind of program. Too much TV these days in quiz shows and so-called “reality programs”. I appreciate the human story that can make me laugh and cry.

Yours faithfully,
Chris Daniels

- () 3. According to the passage, Chris Daniels had to walk home because _____.
A. he hadn't got a return ticket B. he had lost his bus ticket
C. he didn't like big crowds D. he missed the bus home
- () 4. What do you think When we were 12 is?
A. The name of the program.

During the day, Mercer is a hardworking dog, helping his owner and making sure she stays safe. Shea has an illness that keeps her from walking normally. Mercer is specially trained to do many of the things that Shea can't. Now, Shea is writing a series of six books

Teaching good manners to children and teens is a "hot" topic this year. The Tadpole Dreams manners program recently became very popular at the Maryland PTA conference and was warmly received as an exciting and creative program. The program teaches youngsters good manners in a lighthearted (愉快的) way.

The interactive (互动的) course includes lessons on interview skills, telephone manners, cell phone and e-mail rules, thank-you notes, table manners, host and guest skills, polite conversation and how to behave in classrooms, dining halls and at school activities. "We reviewed the program this summer and thought it was very beneficial," said Maureen Moran, branch chief of the office of academic policy for the Maryland State Board of Education. "Tadpole Dreams is a great resource for teachers, guidance educators and other young leaders."

Several middle schools and day camps have put the program to good use. "Our teachers are having a great time with Tadpole Dreams," said Laura Kang, middle school head at Severn School in Severna Park. "The children are enjoying it as well. It's a great way to call people's attention to the positive benefits of good manners."

The manners program is perfect for kids' after-school activities, camps, and other programs. The program combines a child-friendly, lighthearted 48-page good manners handbook and a course containing more than 50 games, skills and activities designed to accompany each section. Each section can be purchased separately online at www.tadpoledreams.org, or the entire program can be purchased in hard copy form. Written and taught by professional middle school educators, the Tadpole Dreams program has been used successfully in every environment imaginable, from city housing projects to summer camps.
