PREFACE

Fuzhou, the capital of Fujian (Min), also known as Zuohai Zoulu" (the native place of Confucius) for its beautiful scenery and famous elites. Over the thousands of years, numerous laborers have ploughed and weeded on this land of 12,000 square kilometers. It is safe to say the history of Fuzhou is a history of urban and rural construction. Since the foundation of new China, especially after the Third Plenary Session of the Eleventh Central Committee of the CPC, under the guidance of reform and opening policies, through the painstaking efforts of the pioneers of Fuzhou and other parts of the country, the rural and urban construction of Fuzhou have reached an unprecedented scale on speed and efficiency. The millenarian city of banyan takes on a new look of radiance and vitality. Convenient transportation, garden style forestation, high quality water and power supply, advanced telecommunication facilities, all embody the air of a modern metropolis.

The Guidance to the Rural and Urban Construction of Fuzhou edited by the Urban Construction Committee, Standing Committee of Fuzhou People's Congress and the Development & Research Centre of Xiamen Special Economic Zone, describes vividly the great achievements made in all trades of Fuzhou, mainly includes new appearances of the city and countryside, infrastructure facilities, economic construction, opening to the outside world and social affairs. The purpose of editing this Guidance is to summarize experience, exhibit the picture of the city and elevate the reputation of Fuzhou in the world, which will facilitate investment invitation and promote the economic development of Fuzhou. Meanwhile, we hope the pioneers of the city will emancipate the mind, keep pace with the times, carry forward our course into the future and make greater achievements in the construction of Fuzhou city!
