★★ 这些名人我知道

Butterfingers Café and the Butterman family had become so popular in Vanilla Ville. Everybody wanted to try their delicious recipes.

One day, PC Strong came to visit them. The police officers at Vanilla Ville police station loved the food at the café but didn't always have the time to pop in for lunch because they were so busy.

Another day, Miss Leafy from the library came to see the Buttermans too. The staff at the library really enjoyed Mark's delicious recipes, but they couldn't always find time to come to the café to eat.

"Why don't we start a delivery round?" said Mary. "We could take lunch orders from all of the local businesses and people."

"That sounds like a great idea!" agreed Mark. "You can take the orders. I'll make the food and..."

"Clara and I can do the deliveries!" suggested Charlie enthusiastically. "That way, the villagers can still enjoy our recipes even when they don't have time to come to the café."

Mary put up a poster in the window of Butterfingers Café.

"We now deliver lunch! Place your order with the café and we will deliver your food straight to you!*"

Literature & Stories 文学与故事

PC strong, Miss Leafy and the rest of the busy villagers were really pleased when they saw the sign.

Soon, the orders started to come in. The phone was ringing constantly inside Butterfingers Café. Mary was busy answering the phone and taking orders while still dealing with the customers at the café.

Mark was busier than ever in the kitchen, cooking meals for the customers and preparing the orders for delivery.

Clara and Charlie were the busiest! Each day during the school holidays, they collected the orders from their father, hopped on their bicycles and set off around the village to deliver the orders.

The delivery service was so popular and they received so many orders that Clara and Charlie struggled to deliver them all in time for lunch.* Some of the meals grew cold while they were pedalling around the village.

"What can we do to make our deliveries faster?" asked Clara. "We need to keep our customers happy."

"Let's ask Mum and Dad," suggested Charlie.

Charlie and Clara explained the problem to Mary and Mark.

"I think Dad will have the right recipe to help," smiled Mary. "How about your 'Move-it Milkshake'?"

"Of course!" laughed Mark. "Move-it Milkshake will work perfectly.*" Clara and Charlie went into the kitchen to learn how to make it.

Mark showed them how to make the milkshake and, of course, add the magical ingredient. "All we need are a few 'rapid raspberries'," he whispered. "Now see what happens."

Notes

- 2. The delivery service was so popular and they received so many orders that Clara and Charlie struggled to deliver them all in time for lunch. 送餐服务过于火爆,订单络绎不绝,以至于克莱拉和查理在午餐时的送餐变得无比吃力。
- 3. Move-it Milkshake will work perfectly. 摇一摇 奶昔将完美奏效。

Charlie and Clara drank their milkshakes quickly. They were sweet and tasty. Suddenly Clara and Charlie felt a burst of energy. They quickly grabbed the lunch deliveries and hopped onto their bicycles. They pedalled their bikes faster than they had ever pedalled before!

"It must be the rapid raspberries!" cried Charlie!

Charlie and Clara made it around the village in record time.* Everyone got their lunch orders and Butterfingers had many more satisfied customers.

"Let's have Move-it Milkshakes every morning!" laughed Clara.

4. Charlie and Clara made it around the village in record time. 查理和克莱拉以最短的时间将整 个小镇的食物成功送达。make it(尤指在困难情 况下) 准时到达。

Rewritten by Michael Bartolomei

Robin Hood* was a happy young man. Women admired his golden hair. And men admired his skill with a bow. He was clear of mind and light of heart.* England could be a dark and dreary place but Robin saw only sunshine.

- 1. Robin Hood 罗宾汉,英国民间传说中的英雄人物,是一位劫富济贫、行侠仗义的绿林英雄。
- 2. He was clear of mind and light of heart. 他心境透彻明亮。

One day, Robin passed a group of archers. They were filthy and scarylooking. They were drinking ale and shouting at strangers. Robin said, "Hello, good archers! The sun is warm. And the ale is cool."

"Boy! Where are you going with that bow?" an archer shouted.

"I never travel without my bow!" Robin replied.

"A baby archer!" the archer said.

"Bring me your bottle, boy. I'll fill it with ale!"

The archers slapped their hands against the table and laughed. Robin laughed too. But he was a proud young man—perhaps too proud. He saw a deer drinking from a stream. It was far away, too far for most archers to reach.

"I'll put an arrow through that deer's heart!" Robin said.

"And I'll give you a spanking and send you home to Mother," the archer said laughing.

Robin ignored his taunt. He aimed high and true. His arrow struck the deer through the heart. And it fell to the ground. The archers sat in stunned silence. And then they became angry.

"That was the king's deer you shot," the archer said. "Run, boy. Or we will have the Sheriff of Nottingham* arrest you!"

Robin's family was wealthy and respected. But even his family could not protect him from King Henry's laws. Robin escaped to Sherwood Forest. And that is where his legend began.*

Sherwood Forest was full of outlaws and bandits. But Robin quickly discovered that they were good men. Most of them lived in the forest because they did not agree with King Henry's laws. Or because it was the only way they could feed their families.*

Robin became their captain. He taught them to punish the rich and protect the poor. If King Henry overtaxed the people, Robin and his men took the money back. If the Sheriff of Nottingham stole from the people, Robin and his men took the money back.

They wore green cloaks with hoods. They sang songs and told jokes even when they were stealing. They quickly became famous throughout England. The outlaw Robin Hood and his Merry Men*! Heroes of the poor!

The Sheriff of Nottingham hated Robin but he could not catch him. The people protected him. So the sheriff set a trap.

Questions

How did Robin get the name Robin Hood?

Robin and his men rob from the rich and give to the poor. Is that fair? Why or why not?

Notes

6. Merry Men 绿林好汉。merry men 这个短语最早用于表示骑士或土匪首领的随从们,在罗宾汉的故事诞生后,Merry Men 专门用于表示跟随罗宾汉行侠仗义的绿林好汉们。
