The Second Clinical College of China Medical University was founded in 1882. It was originally known as "Shengjing Medical University" and later "Liaoning Medical College". It was annexed to China Medical University in 1949 and became the Second Clinical College of the University. Now the college is a general teaching hospital under the Ministry of Public Health. It integrates medical service with medical teaching and scientific research. It undertakes teaching of Pediatrics and Clinical Medicine to undergraduates and students from the English Medical Class in the University. The College also offers emergency service and consultation to patients from the Northeast China and part of Inner Mongolia. In addition, it possesses such research centers as "Liaoning Consulting Center for Scientific Parenthood" and the "The Institute of Pediatrics of China Medical University".

The college occupies an area of 60000m<sup>2</sup> with a building area of more than 60,000m<sup>2</sup>. It owns 1,000 beds, and has staff of 1946 including 184 professors and associate professors, 234 lecturers and attending physicians and 126 teaching assistants and residents. The number of annual outpatient visit is 840,000 and inpatient 18,000.

The college contains 31 teaching, medical or technical departments such as departments of Internal Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Pediatrics, etc. and 10 medical laboratories. The college is well equipped with modern and sophisticated equipment such as nuclear magnetic resonance imaging apparatus, super whole-body CT, ECT, large-type X-ray machine, color Doppler ultrasonic diagnostic apparatus, dynamic EEG, dynamic ECG, dynamic blood pressure monitoring apparatus and complete system of ICU and CCU.

The Department of Pediatrics in the college is a nationally well-known department. It is one of the first-aid centers for new-borns and children in China. Many special and modern surgical operations or medical treatments are offered in the college including hepatectomy by solidification-hemostasis microwave, intervention therapy, reconstruction of vagina with sigmoid colon, ultra-low-position proctectomy, excision of various hepatic or pancreatic carcinomas, correction of severe scoliosis and treatment of grave viral hepatitis. In the recent 3 years, the college has undertaken 40 state and 55 provincial research projects, and won 20 prizes for the outstanding achievements in research.

The college has been awarded the title of "Outstanding Unit of National Health Care System". It also has been awarded several honorable titles by the Provincial Health Department and Municipal Health Bureau and governments for its achievements in ethical aspects of medical activities. In 1992, the college was nominated as the "Class A in Grade 3 Hospitals" (The first-rate hospital at the provincial level) by the provincial government, being the first to be qualified among its peer hospitals.
