The Lost Cat

Hello! My name is Simon. I am nine. I am going to be a detective. I like puzzles.

This is Butterfly House. I live here with my family. I like Butterfly House. There are 12 flats. Our flat is number ten. It is on the fifth floor. Can you see our flat? There is a vase of flowers in the window. My mum likes flowers.

Yesterday evening at seven o'clock, Alice came to our flat. Alice lives at flat number nine. She is a nurse.

'Have you seen Smokey?' asked Alice. Smokey is Alice's cat. She is a small, fluffy grey cat. She likes people. She is friendly. She likes food, too! She is a greedy cat!

'I saw her yesterday,' I answered 'Mum gave her some chicken. But I haven't seen her today.'

Friendly greedy yesterday

'Oh dear!' said Alice.

'Don't be sad,' I said. 'I can help you. I'm going to be a detective!'

I opened my notebook. Detectives always have notebooks. I wrote down the names of all our neighbours.

'Let's ask all the neighbours', I said.

Wrote neighbours

Puzzles

1. Draw a circle round the greedy cat.

Draw a cross beside the fluffy cat.

Draw a line under the friendly cat.

Draw a square round the tired cat.

We went to flat number one. Mr Kelly came to the door. He is an ambulance driver.

'Have you seen Smokey?' we asked.

'No. Smokey usually comes here for breakfast at eight o'clock. I always give her some meat, and sometimes I give her some milk, too. But I haven't seen her today.'

We thanked Mr Kelly. I wrote everything in my notebook.

We went to flats number two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight. We didn't visit flat number nine or flat number ten!

We asked all our neighbours the same questions: 'Do you know Smokey?' 'Does she visit you?' and 'Have you seen her today?'

Everybody said: 'Yes, she often comes here. I usually feed her. But I haven't seen her today.'

Alice and I went to flat number eleven. We heard a loud noise: 'Woof! Woof!'

Mr Lemon came to the door. There was an enormous dog behind him. 'Smokey never comes here,' said Mr Lemon.

At flat number 12, Miss Garden said, 'Smokey always visits me at about one o'clock. I always feed her. She likes fish. But I haven't seen her today.'

We asked all our neighbours the same questions.

Everybody gave the same answers.

I saw an enormous dog behind him.

We went to Alice's flat. It was nine o'clock in the evening. Alice was worried. 'You've talked to everybody,' she said. 'All our neighbours know Smokey. But they haven't seen her today. She's lost! What am I going to do?'

'I haven't talked to everybody,' I said. 'I haven't talked to you!' I opened my notebook. 'I'm going to ask you some questions,' I said. 'I'm worried'

'What do you do every morning?' I asked.

'I always get up at seven o'clock,' said Alice. 'I have a shower and brush my hair. I put on my uniform. I have a cup of coffee. Then I feed Smokey. I give her a bowl of water, too.'

'What does Smokey eat?' I asked.

'I usually give her cat food. Her favourite is Happy Cat. Then I put on my coat and go to work by bus.'

Brush put on a bowl

I wrote in my notebook. Then I asked, 'What did you do this morning?'

'I got up late this morning,' said Alice. 'It was ten past seven. I had a shower and brushed my hair very quickly I spilt coffee on my uniform. I took off the dirty uniform and put on a clean uniform.'

'Then what did you do?' I asked.

'I opened the cupboard,' said Alice. 'I took out a tin of cat food. I put some cat food in a bowl and gave it to Smokey. Then I put my dirty uniform in the laundry basket. I put on my coat, and I went to work.'

I had an idea. 'Let's look in your cupboard,' I said. 'Then let's look in your laundry basket.'

Took out a tin laundry an idea

We found Alice's dirty uniform in the cupboard. Then we looked in the laundry basket and we found Smokey! She was asleep. Her bowl was beside her. It was empty.

Smokey woke up. She jumped out of the laundry basket. She went to the cupboard. 'Miaow!' she said.

'Simon, you're a very good detective!' said Alice. She gave me a packet of sweets. Then she gave Smokey some Happy Cat!

Found woke up

Cats

Cats are good pets. They are clean and quiet. They can live in towns or in the country.

Cats like milk, and they need water, too. They cannot eat vegetables or bread. They need meat or fish. Some people buy packets or tins of cat food for their pets.

Some cats are very beautiful. This is a Persian cat. His hair is very long and fluffy.

Cats can catch rats, mice or birds. The cat usually eats them.

A cat lived in a shop in Scotland. Her name was Towser. Towser caught mice every night. She did not eat them.' She gave them to her family. Every morning, her family counted the mice. They wrote the numbers in a notebook. Towser caught 23,000 mice!

The oldest cat in the world is 34 years old! She does not catch mice now. She sits on a cushion and looks out of the window.

b) How many birds did she catch on Thursday?

c) How many rats did she catch this week?

Lions, tigers and leopards are cats, too. They are big cats. They are very strong. They have very sharp claws and big, sharp teeth.

Big cats hunt animals and eat them. They chase the animals. They catch them with their sharp claws and bite them with their sharp teeth.

Claws    hunt    bite

Lions live in Africa. They usually hunt in the day. These lions have caught a zebra.

Tigers live in India and China. They are the biggest cats. Tigers usually hunt at night. They sleep in the day. Leopards can climb trees. This leopard is hiding in a tree. Can you see him?

Africa India China

Look at a cat in the dark. Can you see the cat's eyes? They shine in the dark. Look at a road in the dark. Can you see the lights? They are called "cats' eyes' Percy Shaw made them in 1934. He said,

'I was in my car. It was very dark. There was a cat beside the road. The cat's eyes shone. I had an idea.' Now 'cats' eyes' help drivers in the dark.

The Biggest Dad

Hello. I am Linda. I am nine years old. I am one metre 30 centimetres tall. This is my sister, Sandy. She is older than me. She is eleven. Sandy is taller than me, too.

Our brother, Michael, is the oldest. He is 13. Michael is the tallest, too. He is one metre 75 centimetres tall. Our Mum's name is Sally. She is taller than Sandy and me. But she is not as tall as Michael.

Dad's name is David. He is very big and strong. He is one metre 92 centimetres tall. He has long, strong arms and big shoulders. He is the biggest person in our family, and I am the smallest.

This is Tom. He came to our school in September. He is the shortest boy in our class. Usually Tom and I are friends. But sometimes we argue!
argue

On Friday, Tom came to our house. We played with Tom's toy cars. I picked up a yellow car. 'Can I play with this one?' I asked.'

No, you can't,' said Tom. 'That's my best car.' He took the yellow car and put it in his bag.

I was very angry. 'You always play with my toys!' I shouted.
Picked up took

Puzzles

Draw a circle round the tallest girl.

Draw a square round the shortest boy.

Draw a line under the oldest girl.

Write a cross beside the naughtiest boy

I opened my toy cupboard. I took out my red car.

'My car's better than your car,' I said. 'It's bigger and faster than your car. My Dad bought the car. My Dad's big and clever.'

'My Dad's bigger than your Dad!' said Tom.

'That's not true!' I shouted.

faster

We had a fight. Mum heard the noise. She came into the room.

'Stop fighting!' she shouted.

'Tom was naughty!' I said.

'No, I wasn't. Linda was naughty,' said Tom.

'You're both naughty!' said Mum. 'Say "sorry".'

'Sorry, Tom,' I said.

'Sorry, Linda,' said Tom.

'Now, come and eat your dinner,' said Mum.

heard

We had a nice dinner.

'My Mum's a good cook,' I said. 'It was my birthday on the first of February, and Mum made a super cake.'

'My birthday's on the second of December,' said Tom. I looked at the calendar. 'Tomorrow's the second of December!' I said.

Puzzles

- b) 'My Dad's bigger than your Dad!'
- c) 'Stop fighting!'
- d) 'Tom was naughty!'
- e) 'Now, come and eat your dinner.'
- f) 'My Mum's a good cook.'
- g) 'My birthday's on the second of December.'

'Yes, tomorrow's my birthday!' said Tom. 'Come to my birthday party! We're going to play games. Mum's going to make a birthday cake. It's going to have ten candles. My friends are going to sing "Happy Birthday" and I'm going to blow out the candles.'

'Is your Dad going to be at the party?' I asked.

'Yes,' said Tom.

Blow out

On Saturday I went to Tom's birthday party. Lots of my friends were there. We played games. We had a race. It was an egg and spoon race. Tony won the race. He was the fastest. My egg fell off my spoon, and my friends laughed.

Tom's Dad was not there. 'Tom's short. His Dad's short, too,' I thought.

A race an egg and spoon race fell off thought

We had tea at five o'clock. We put on paper hats. We ate sandwiches, chicken, sausages, crisps and cakes.

There was a big birthday cake. It had ten candles. Tom's Mum lit the candles, and we sang "Happy Birthday". Then Tom blew out the candles, and his Mum cut the cake.

'Where's your Dad?' I asked Tom.

'He's at the hospital,' said Tom. 'He's a doctor. He's always very busy. But he's going to come home at six o'clock. You're going to see him. You're going to say, "He's enormous!"

I laughed. Tom was the smallest boy at the party. 'My Dad's bigger than your Dad', I said.

A hospital enormous

My Dad came to the party. Tony's Dad came, too. My Dad was bigger than Tony's Dad.

'My Dad's the biggest!' I said.

Then at six o'clock the door opened, and an enormous man came in. He was as tall as a tree. He picked Tom up, and said,

'Hello, son!'

It was Tom's Dad.

'He's enormous!' I said. 'He's a giant!' Tom laughed.

'My Dad's the biggest!' he said.
